Truman Starts New Term With Busy First Day

To Devote Efforts To Prosecution Of Cold War On Communism

NEW MESSAGES TO BE SENT TO CONGRESS

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Truman began the first day of his new term in the White House determined to devote his efforts unswervingly in prosecuting the cold war on Communism and achieving "peace, plenty and freedom" for the world.

Intimates said that Mr. Truman will send to Congress in the next few weeks legislative recommendations embodying details of the four-point peace and prosperity blueprint outlined in his unprecedented inaugural address.

A strong foreign policy message containing new recommendations for implementing the Marshall Plan is expected to be one of the first major presidential communications to Congress.

Spaced along with it will be a request to the Senate to ratify a treaty of mutual defense against aggression affecting the nations of the entire North Atlantic area.

Witnesses Acheson Induction

One of Mr. Truman's first acts of his new term was to witness the swearing in of Dean Acheson as the new secretary of state who is pledged to carry out the stern foreign policy enunciated by the president.

Mr. Truman was encouraged by the bipartisan praise in Congress of his inaugural address in which he denounced Communism as the one road-block to peace and offered military aid to "free nations which will cooperate with us in the maintenance of peace and security."

Criticism came from some quarters, however, by those who feared the new proposals would mean enormous new outlays of government spending as free gifts to foreign countries and objected to the gift of American industrial "know-how" to other countries.

Vill Cost Money
It was obvious that any military assistance to other nations will cost money.

Associates of the president said, however, that what the president has in mind is a "continuation" of the European recovery program for as long as needed rather than any huge new expansion of spending.

They reported that his "bold" new program for aiding underdeveloped countries envisages worldwide cooperation rather than the bill being footed by this country.

These sources said it should be obvious by now that the economy and finances of most of the world nations are dependent upon American resources and the stability of the dollar.

As Long As Necessary
They added that the president was saying, in effect, that world peace must be underwritten by the United States for as long as is necessary.

Pa Newc Observes

Numerous New Castleites have expressed their surprise and commendation at the feat of The News in presenting pictures of the inauguration ceremonies at Washington Thursday at noon in the regular edition of The News Thursday evening. The News was about the only newspaper in the district to accomplish the feat. It was made possible through the Acme Telephoto Service, which is a part of The News service daily, and the work of The News engraving department. The picture was being printed in The News in about two hours from the time it was taken in Washington.

President's Daughter At Inaugural Ball

Margaret Truman, lovely daughter of the President, was the lady of the hour as she danced with Major William Zimmerman, of Roanoke, Va., the White House military aide, at the Presidential inaugural ball, Thursday night.

Western Europe Hails Inauguration Speech

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Western Europe hailed President Truman's inaugural speech today as evidence that the U. S. will stand firm in the fight against communism.

The London Daily Graphic, in an editorial summing up a good part of the Western attitude toward the speech, said:
"Anybody in the U. S. or outside it who has feared or hoped, according to their politics, that Truman was weakening in his attitude toward Russia, will be reassured or disappointed—he made it perfectly clear that Americans are still in the van of the fight against the ideology which is the exact antithesis of democracy."

Italian foreign minister Count Carlo Sforza saw in the speech a "magnificent cornerstone on which peace can be built."

Austin Believes Acheson Will Strengthen Policy

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate to the United Nations, declared today that in his opinion United States policy toward the U. N. will be "strengthened" under the new secretary of state.

The former GOP senator from Vermont, back at Lake Success after an illness of two months, praised Acheson for his previous work at the U. N. and expressed belief that under Acheson "the United Nations will remain the cornerstone of U. S. foreign policy."

Austin planned to attend the Security Council meeting this afternoon on Indonesia, but leave the presentation of the resolution to his deputy, Philip C. Jessup.

The resolution, jointly sponsored with Cuba, Norway and China, calls for a new U. N. commission empowered to create a federated and sovereign Indonesia and ensure the withdrawal of Dutch forces.
Austin emphatically stressed that past activities of Acheson in connection with the use of atomic energy foreshadow an even tighter grip by the U. S. on the atom bomb and other secret weapons which may exist.

More Foreign Wool To Be Used In 1949

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The government forecast today that American mills will use larger quantities of foreign wool in 1949 because of sharply reduced supplies in this country.
The Agriculture Department, in a report on the wool situation, said at the same time that imports from Australia, New Zealand and South Africa declined 61 per cent in the 1947-48 marketing year.
Imports from Argentina and Uruguay showed a 68 per cent increase, but this was not enough to offset the lag in shipments from the British dominions.

New Government Of Venezuela Is Given Recognition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The United States today officially recognized the new military-controlled government of Venezuela.

Full U. S. recognition was extended on the definite understanding that leaders of the Venezuelan Junta will hold a free election, and that they "will strictly fulfill" Venezuela's international obligations.

Similar recognition of El Salvador is anticipated almost immediately.

County School Directors Will Meet Next Week

Program Is Being Arranged For Annual Convention
Of County Directors

WILL CONVEENE IN COURT HOUSE

Lawrence County school directors will have their annual meeting in the court house on Thursday, January 27, with an all-day session. It was announced today by County Superintendent John C. Syling.

The program, which is being lined up for the occasion, will be a most informative one.

Dr. Robert M. Steele, of the California State Teachers college, at California, Pa., will discuss the teacher situation, particularly in regard to the number of teachers which will be graduated this year.

W. H. McCullough, representative of the General Assembly from the Second district, will discuss school legislation.

O. H. Heckathorne, principal of the Beaver Falls Junior high school, will give a report on the state school directors association meeting, and will also discuss school legislation.

Another speaker will be Roy Cleaver, of the Department of Public Instruction, who will speak on school transportation problems, school consolidation, and other matters.

Mercy Plane Is Being Hunted

(BULLETIN)

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 21.—(INS)—A Royal Canadian air force mercy plane carrying a crew of eight, a doctor and two seriously ill men vanished in the snow-covered Canadian wilds today after flashing an "SOS" for three hours.

Unfortunately for search planes, the pilot of the missing plane failed to give the location of the ship. SOS signals stopped at 2:35 a. m.

It is believed the plane's gasoline supply was exhausted.
The sick men had been picked up at their isolated post 400 miles within the Arctic circle. They are an Eskimo and Harold Dunn, a radio operator of Koomlak.

An 11th man, Maj. R. Brousseau, an army doctor, had been picked up at Churchill on the flight north.

Four RCAF planes are searching the several hundred miles of frozen bush and swamp country for the mercy plane. All available long-range aircraft eventually will be pressed into search service.

Allege Parents Abandoned Three Of Their Children

MECHANICSBURG, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS) Police in the eastern states today were on the look-out for the young parents who allegedly abandoned three tots with their grandmother.

The couple was identified by Mechanicsburg police as Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Muncher, aged 28 and 23. Police said the Munchers brought the children, who range from five months to 2½ years, to the home of their grandmother Mrs. Verdie Strasbaugh, a widow.

The couple left without a word to the grandmother.

Mrs. Strasbaugh said she received a letter yesterday from the mother asking her to keep the children until she and the father found work. They promised to come back sometime, Mrs. Strasbaugh said.

The animal has been eating nothing except milk and ground meat and has lost plenty of weight. However, he still charges Keeper An every time he passes the cage.

Acheson Takes Oath Of Office During Morning

Becomes Secretary Of State
In Impressive Ceremony
At White House

PLEGDED TO CARRY OUT TRUMAN'S PLAN (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Dean Acheson, 55-year-old lawyer-diplomat, officially became secretary of state today, pledged to carry out President Truman's newly reiterated cold war policy against Communist aggression.

Acheson was sworn in this morning at an impressive White House ceremony, in the presence of President Truman, members of the cabinet, congressional leaders, and other high officials.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, who yesterday officiated at Mr. Truman's inauguration, administered the oath.

Congratulated By Truman

The president smilingly congratulated the tall, mustached Acheson, who succeeds Gen. George C. Marshall, wartime chief of staff, in the No. 1 cabinet post.

Marsh, now in Puerto Rico recuperating after the major operation which forced his resignation, could not attend the ceremony.

Acheson was flanked by his wife, his son, David, his brother, Edward Acheson, and their wives.

Mrs. Acheson beamed with pride as her husband, who served as under secretary and as assistant secretary during the regimes of your secretaries of state, took the oath of his high office.

The picturesque oval room was flooded with light as cameras recorded the ceremony, which had to be repeated twice to satisfy the photographers.

No Statement

Acheson made no public statement but contented himself with acknowledging the congratulations of the president and the other notables present.

Truman's Address Warmly Received By Great Britain

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—A spokesman for the London foreign office said today that President Truman's inaugural address was received with the "warmest accord" by the British government.

The spokesman added:
"We wish to focus attention on the part of the speech referring to the development of backward areas, which is very much in line with what His Majesty's government has sought to bring about in the past and is seeking to do on in the future."

TRUMAN BY-PASSED

MOSCOW, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Soviet newspapers brushed President Truman's inaugural speech today with a 12-line report and no editorial comment.

The newspapers devoted most of their space to the commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the death of Vladimir Ilich Lenin.

Washington Regaining Normal Tranquility

By JAMES LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Tranquility of a kind came to the nation's capital today after an inaugural jamboree which will have the historians reaching for their gaudiest adjectives.

Harry S. Truman was back at his White House desk. The "miracle man from Missouri" was hard at work, determined to keep his inaugural pledge to battle the menace of communism until the world is really at peace and its nations are really free.

As the president labored, Washington, weary but still exhilarated, took inventory of inauguration memories.

New Clue In Baker Death Develops

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 21.—(INS)—A new clue in the "unsolved mystery" death of multimillionaire banking heir Grenville Baker Case developed today.

The new angle in the fatal shooting revolved around a "dead" motor of the socialite's wrecked Jeep as he lay on the lonely winding road of his family's fashionable Horseshoe estate.

It was learned that the motor was still running when his companion, Thelma Griffin, a Tallahassee car-hop, ran down the road for help. She said the throttle of the Jeep was jammed and the motor was running at full speed.

Mrs. Griffin was reported to have told police that when she returned to the scene with assistance the ignition key had been turned off and Baker's body was a considerable distance from the scene.

State's Attorney William D. Hopkins said:
"If that is true, it deepens the mystery around the whole affair."

Sheriff Frank Stoutmire said "there is nothing more we can do at this time."

President Of China Secretly Leaves Nanking

Future Plans Of Chiang Are Not Disclosed—Destination Uncertain

RED-DICTATED PEACE IS LIKELY (BULLETIN)

NANKING, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Chiang Kai-shek, China's "strong man" for more than two decades, gave up his presidential duties late today to clear the way for a Communist-dictated peace and fled Red-menaced Nanking by air.

(The Chinese Communist radio heard in Shanghai rejected the Nationalist appeal for an immediate and unconditional cease-fire as a prerequisite to peace negotiations. The broadcast said that this "unreasonable" demand could close the doors forever to any peace talks.)

May Foresee Surrender

Behind him the world-famed generalissimo left the functions of the presidency in the hands of vice president Li Tsung-Jen—a move

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek

portending possible unconditional surrender to the victorious Communists.

Formally, however, Chiang did not resign.

Reuters reported that Nationalist plans to evacuate Nanking were understood to have been postponed.

The news agency said that trains and planes scheduled to fly civil servants to Canton were cancelled as was an informal session of the executive Yuan.

Chiang's special plane took off at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Hangchow, en route to Fenghua in Chiang's native province of Chekiang on China's southeast coast.

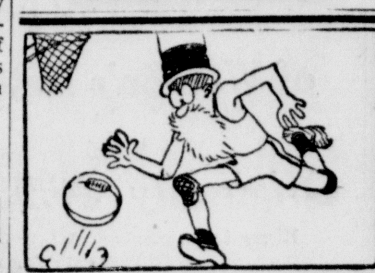

Plans Not Disclosed
Further than the announcement of his secret aerial departure for Fenghua, 85 miles southeast of Hangchow, Chiang's future plans were not disclosed.

It was pointed out by observers, however, that from Fenghua it would be a relatively short hop farther south to Canton or east to the island of Formosa.

There was even speculation that eventually the 62-year-old generalissimo might flee Chinese territory and go into exile. Madame Chiang Kai-shek has been in the United States for some time.

The seats are hard and the air is close, and you're huddled like packed sardines, but there you are with a flock of fans watching some kids in their teens. They're thinly clad and they race around as they strive to get hold of the ball, and the rafters seem to resound with noise as the yelling goes up in the hall. Basketball is a rough tough game. It takes youth and courage to play, but it's quite a thrill as they run and jump, it's cool, forty-two today.

Income Taxes Payable Now

Regulations Governing Annual Returns Given Collector Stanley Granger

PAYMENTS CAN BE MADE LOCALLY

Regulations governing the filing of returns for the annual income tax period which ends on March 15 have been received by Division Chief G. A. Funkhouser from W. Stanley Granger, collector of internal revenue for the Western Pennsylvania district.

Officer hours for all offices in the district will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Saturday.

New Tax Forms
The office here, second floor, Post Office building, will be open until midnight on March 15, the deadline, for the purpose of receiving payments and returns only. No assistance will be given in the preparation of a return after 5 p. m. on March 15. Assistance to taxpayers will be given daily up until 5 p. m. March 15 however.

Congress has given the taxpayer public having incomes of $5,000 or less a new income tax form, 1040-A. Instead of a taxpayer merely sending his withholding statement, W-2, to the collector of internal revenue as has been done in the past years, he will now make out his own return on the form 1040-A and attach to this form all his withholding statements W-2. The withholding statements, forms W-2, must be attached to Form 1040-A by pins or staples, otherwise the return will not be processed. In the event the taxpayer sends in a Form 1040-A and forgets to attach his withholding statement he must follow it up with a letter of explanation.

Refunds

Due to the complications that will be encountered in the filing of the new return, Form 1040-A, refunds will be considerably delayed. For this reason the wage earner and married persons taking advantage of the "split income" tax feature should endeavor to get their returns to the collector of internal revenue at the earliest possible date. Returns that are not properly filed and correct information not given by the employer, refunds will not be paid as has been done in former years. This new form is placing the burden on taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 to properly prepare returns and give all information necessary and to attach all withholding statements, Form W-2, as this return, Form 1040-A, will be a final return and the refund or tax deficiency will be entirely up to the taxpayer. The collector will still compute the tax.

Employers

Employers will continue to issue withholding statements, Form W-2, to all employees. Each employee must attach the original copy of his withholding statement to his income tax return whether he files on Form 1040-A or the regular income tax form 1040. By law, employers are required to furnish annual withholding statements, Form W-2, for the year 1949, not later than January 31, 1949.

Donegan Given Rank Of Captain

Officer Of 229th Field Artillery Here Receives Recent Promotion

Announcement has been made by Lt. Col. George E. Mitchell, commander of the 229th Field Artillery, of the promotion of First Lieut. Joseph B. Donegan to the rank of captain.

Captain Donegan is a graduate of the Field Artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla., where he completed his course in 1943. He served 44 months on active duty during World War II. While in the United States he served at Fort Sill, Okla., Camp Shelby, Miss., Fort Bragg, N. C., and served as a battery commander in the Philippines and as a communications officer in Japan. He completed his army career on May 31, 1946, joining the 229th in September, 1946, as assistant communications officer.

Capt. Donegan is now serving as intelligence officer for the 229th. He is a student at Youngstown college in the School of Business Administration and is also affiliated with Johnson Bronze Co.

Col. Mitchell announces that all young men between the ages of 17 and 18½ years who join the National Guard are exempt from the Selective Service draft. The opportunities for promotion and pay are good. Those interested in joining the local National Guard units may secure further information regarding these advantages on Wednesday and Thursday evening by visiting Cunningham Armory.

Sodality Names Officers For Year

Note Postwar Inflation Over

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Indications that post-war inflation is over were recently presented by Percy C. Madeira, Jr., president of Land Title Bank and Trust Company of Philadelphia.

He contended that activity in the stock market and real estate are much lower than in 1946 and that the prices of farm products have also decreased.

Madeira said there is no longer a scarcity of necessities and less money is being spent for luxuries. If a price adjustment were fixed to balance the demand with the supply, any anticipated depression could be averted, he added.

REESE BATES EVENING WEDDING

At a candlelight service in the First U. P. church of Ellwood City on Thursday evening, January 20, Miss Joan Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Reese of 514 Seventh street, Ellwood City, became the bride of Donald R. Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Bates of 1012 Beckford street.

Rev. W. E. Minter officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a winter white wool gabardine street-length dress with a black hat and accessories, a corsage of orchids, wore pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a white Bible.

Miss Patricia Reese, as her sister's attendant, wore a light gray wool dress with a black hat and accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Willis H. Bates, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Robert Gee and Robert Reese, the latter a brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, Glenn Young of Ellwood City presented a 15-minute organ recital, using favorite selections of the bride and played softly during the ceremony.

The bride and groom left by motor on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and upon their return will reside in a newly furnished apartment at 1012 Beckford street.

Mrs. Bates graduated from Lincoln high school, Ellwood City, and has been employed in the office of the Ellwood Tube mill. Mr. Bates graduated from New Castle high school, attended California State Teachers college, and served in the United States Naval Reserve during World War II. He is now employed at the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company.

MEDICAL AUXILIARY HEARS BOOK REVIEW

"The Tenth and Eagle" by Anya Seton a delightful popular best seller, was reviewed in a most charming manner by Mrs. Samuel Staats Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the meeting of the Lawrence County Medical auxiliary held in the home of Mrs. James Crawford, North Mercer street.

Mrs. Staats was introduced by Mrs. John Woods, program chairman. President Mrs. A. I. Hoffmaster was in charge of the business meeting.

Lovely flowers were used throughout the room as decoration, and dainty refreshments were served at a beautifully appointed table. The committee in charge included Mrs. Homer Allen, Mrs. William Wallace, Mrs. Joseph E. Ginsberg, Mrs. J. L. Popp, Mrs. Harold Sumner and Mrs. Thomas Wilson.

On March 17 the auxiliary will meet with Mrs. S. W. Perry, Jr., of Highland avenue.

PULASKI COUPLE PLAN GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Simpson, of Pulaski, will celebrate their Golden wedding anniversary Wednesday, January 26, when members of the Pulaski Methodist church will honor them with a reception to be held in the church at 7:30 Wednesday evening. All friends of the couple are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson were married January 26, 1899 by Rev. S. L. Mills, who was at that time pastor of the Pulaski Methodist church. They were married in their own newly furnished apartment which was in the Alcorn house in Pulaski.

W. S. Wilson, of New Wilmington, was a member of their wedding party and expects to attend the Golden wedding celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson have lived in Pulaski for their entire married life. They are the parents of three sons, Thayer Simpson, of R. D. 1, New Wilmington, Dale and Ralph Simpson, both of Pulaski. They have seven grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

LOCAL MAN TO WED SIDNEY, O. GIRL

Announcement has been made of the engagement and forthcoming wedding of Miss Shirley Ann Shively, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shively, of Sidney, O., and Robert C. Mauck, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Mauck, of 409 Hillcrest avenue, New Castle.

The open church wedding will take place at 2:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church of Sidney Sunday afternoon, March 6.

The bride-elect has chosen as her attendants Mrs. Wilbur Johnston, of Columbus, O., and the Misses Joann Zempfer and Margaret Campbell, of Sidney.

Dwight Miller, of New Castle, will serve his brother-in-law as best man and the ushers will be Ken G. Prentice, of Ashtabula, O., Charles M. Grossman, of Sandusky, O., Joseph Shively and Charles Manning, both of Sidney.

Miss Shively is a graduate of Sidney high school and attended Bowling Green university and Ohio Northern university and is now on the teaching staff at Jackson Center school.

Mr. Mauck is a graduate of New Castle high school and will graduate in February from Ohio Northern university.

ANOTHER SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Another in a series of showers that have been given for Miss Marjorie Brooks, bride-elect, was on given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. David Spiker at their home on Miller avenue.

Cards were in play as a diversion for the group of 35 guests. A shower of lovely gifts of a miscellaneous nature was presented to the guest of honor. Afterward, refreshments were served.

The wedding of Miss Brooks and James Boalick will take place Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Second U. P. church.

Willing Workers

Willing Workers class of the Central Presbyterian church met Thursday at 1:30 in the church parlors.

Mrs. S. A. White, the president, presided and read a New Years sermon. She also read an article on Interpretations on the Book of Revelations.

There was a short business meeting.

A social period was then enjoyed after which Mrs. Anna Robison and Miss Marjorie McAnlis, the hostesses, served dainty refreshments.

ROTARY ANNS HAVE JANUARY LUNCHEON

Rotary Anns met in the ballroom of The Castleton Thursday at one o'clock for their January luncheon. Tables were beautifully decorated with floral centerpieces of red carnations and white snapdragons and candles and valentines also decorated the table.

Hostesses were Mrs. Sidney Lockley, Mrs. Harold Hadsell, Mrs. Edward H. Hays, Mrs. William Haines, Mrs. Asa Hoffmaster, Mrs. Miles Kennedy, Mrs. George Lucas, and Mrs. George Marquis.

After luncheon, business was conducted with Mrs. E. L. Davenport presiding. A report of the budget committee was given by Mrs. Robert A. Eckles, chairman. The following members were appointed to the ways and means committee, Mrs. DeLace Cole, Mrs. Edward Williams, Mrs. Sidney Lockley, Mrs. Harry Bowen, and Mrs. George Ritter.

Mrs. Howard Reynolds, Mrs. Samuel Mooney, Mrs. John Panella and Mrs. Thomas Foley were appointed to the program committee. Through the courtesy of the Rick Motor Company, a film, "Wheels Across Africa" was shown by Wayne Harper. The showing was received with expressions of enjoyment and appreciation. Mr. Harper was introduced by Mrs. George Ritter.

The door prize was won by Mrs. DeLace Cole.

Next meeting will be a luncheon at The Castleton on February 17 with the following hostess committee, Mrs. Ralph Markley, Mrs. Marshall Matheny, Mrs. Henry Matiste, Mrs. Leperre Matthews, Mrs. Charles Metzler, Mrs. David McBride, Mrs. John McClelland, Mrs. Samuel McCreary, Mrs. Joseph McFate, Mrs. Samuel Mooney, Mrs. Robert Moore and Mrs. Neils Olsen.

LOMBARDO ULAM • QUIET WEDDING

Miss Sylvia Lombardo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lombardo, of 609 Pearson street, became the bride of Robert H. Ulam, son of Mrs. Nell Fortney, of 15 Levine way, at a quiet but impressive ceremony in St. Vitus church, Saturday morning, January 15, at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white satin gown fashioned with sheer nylon neckline, full skirt and long train. Her long veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white prayer book, with orchids and long streamers. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift from her grandmother.

Miss Marion Paris, as maid of honor, was attired in a gown of blue taffeta, made off the shoulder with long sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Nicholas Lombardo served the groom as best man.

A breakfast was served in the home of the bride's parents, immediately following the ceremony and dinner was served to 50 guests at a local dining room.

The newlyweds then left on a short wedding trip and upon their return will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 222 Bellview avenue.

QUEEN ESTHERS PLAN FOR DINNER

Queen Esther class of the Third U. P. church was entertained in the home of Mrs. C. C. McDermott, 942 Beckford street, on a recent evening with Miss Jane Watkins and Mrs. Jack Ellis as co-hostesses.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Bernard Hook.

During business, with Miss Leona Nolan presiding, it was planned to have a tureen dinner at the church on February 15 in conjunction with the annual election meeting. Mrs. Cecil Potter, Mrs. Leonard Cooley and Mrs. William McKee are the committee.

Games in charge of Miss Anne Carrick and Mrs. Wilson Phillips were the diversion of the social hour with tokens going to Mrs. Josephine Thompson, Miss Betty Gray and Mrs. Bernard Hook.

At the close of the evening a delicious lunch was served.

Fidelity Companions
Mrs. Carmen Picarro, of DuShane street, opened her home to members of the Fidelity Companions club, Thursday evening.

Tables of cards were in play and Mrs. Angelo Filizzeni captured the prize. Birthdays of Mrs. James Costello and Mrs. Sam Ascone were honored, and they received lovely gifts. Mrs. Michael Phillips received the club token. Later in the evening, the hostess served dainty refreshments aided by Mrs. Phillips.

February 3, is the meeting with Mrs. Angelo Filizzeni, Neshannock boulevard.

Gayette Club

Members of the Gayette club met in their club rooms, Thursday evening, with Mrs. Robert Mash and Mrs. Anthony Marinella as hostesses.

Mrs. Michael Cerrell was presented with an array of lovely gifts from the members in honor of her anniversary. Cards were in play with prizes going to Mrs. Ernest Gillette and Mrs. Andy Cerrell.

Mrs. Domenick Sciola, as special guest, received a lovely gift from the club. A tasty lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Sciola.

The next meeting will be February 3, at which time Mrs. Felix Dell and Mrs. William Barbato will be hostesses.

1907 Club Meets

Mrs. Mary Geddis, of Huron avenue, was a charming hostess on Wednesday evening.

Tables of 500 were in play, high score prizes going to Mrs. Pearl Carr, Mrs. George Woodring and Mrs. J. W. Logue. The hostess was later aided by her daughter, Mrs. O. L. Murphy in serving a tasty lunch. The table was nicely arranged.

February 16, is the meeting with Mrs. Joseph O'Laughlin, West Washington street.

Amerita Club

Amerita club members were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Rudy Eagan, East Winter avenue, on Thursday evening.

Cards were in progress during the evening, high score trophies going to Mrs. Mario Frabotta and Miss Angeline Iacobucci. The club token was won by Mrs. Nicholas George. Attending as special guest was Mrs. Herbert Kelso, and she aided the hostess in serving a tasty lunch.

February 3, is the meeting with Mrs. William Manauzzi, 1012 Summit street.

First Showdown On Taft-Hartley Law Repeal Near

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The first showdown in the 81st Congress on repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act is to come today in the Senate Labor Committee.

Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., plans to submit a motion that the committee report out immediately for Senate action a bill repealing the law and re-enacting the Wagner Act.

The move is certain to encounter stiff opposition from Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, and his four Republican colleagues on the committee. Taft is committed to a Senate fight against wholesale scrapping of the statute which bears his name.

Pepper's motion also may face resistance from Sen. Thomas (D) Utah, author of the repeal bill and chairman of the Senate labor group. Thomas has announced that he favors extensive hearings on new labor legislation.

Has Labor Backing

The Florida senator's proposal has the backing of organized labor which wants "two-package" treatment of labor legislation in the new Democratic-controlled Congress.

Labor is demanding repeal of Taft-Hartley and restoration of the Wagner Act at once, as the first step, and then consideration later of amendments to the latter law.

President Truman asked Congress in his State of the Union message for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and re-enactment of the Wagner act with "improvements" but he did not specify any procedure.

Meantime, the United States Chamber of Commerce urged Congress to retain "basic provisions" of the Taft-Hartley law.

The business organization said it favored only such changes as are "clearly demonstrated to be in the public interest" and made proposals for tightening up the existing legislation. The chamber suggested:

Elimination of pension and welfare funds from the scope of compulsory collective bargaining when employers contribute to federal or state social security programs.

A ban on industry-wide bargaining "whenever it assumes such proportions that either employers or employees can exercise monopolistic powers."

Foresee Peace Proposals

(Observers said Chiang's decision would open the way for a "caretaker" administration under the vice president and Premier Sun Fo to make specific peace proposals to the Communists.

Reuters said that Chiang is expected to wait at either Formosa or Canton while a government delegation goes to Yenan to seek a settlement or until the Communists final terms are known.)

(An International News Service dispatch from Hong Kong said Chiang's sudden flight from Nanking heightened speculation that the Nationalists might attempt a stand in the south. The dispatch said Chiang's brother-in-law, former Premier T. V. Soong, planned to fly from Canton to Nanking to urge such a stand.)

Announcement Made

Chiang's abandonment of his capital, threatened by Red spearheads less than 60 miles away, was announced by the government's information ministry some two hours after his dramatic takeoff in his personal plane. The announcement stated:

"President Chiang Kai-shek left Nanking at 4 p. m. today for Hangchow on his way to Fenghua, his native city in Chekiang province.

"In accordance with the constitution, vice president Li Tsung-Jen will act for the president during his absence."

A high authority emphasized that Chiang is not formally resigning the presidency, but hinted that he might be legally "recalled" from that office.

Peace Offensive Of Soviet Russia Given Hard Blow

Western European Diplomats See Truman Speech As Blast At Soviet Program

PARIS, Jan. 21.—(INS)—High ranking western European diplomatic sources hailed President Truman's inauguration speech today as delivering a "shattering blow" to the Soviet Union's "appeasement peace offensive."

One leading French diplomat told International News Service that Truman's speech should convince the Kremlin that the U. S. cannot be lured into buying a short term peace at the price of a new "Munich."

The president's strongly expressed intention of waging the "cold war" until a sound peace can be won was also seen as a serious setback to the latest line being taken by the Communist parties of western Europe.

This line, the keynote of which was sounded recently by French Communist Leader Marcel Cachin and Italian Communist Chief Palmiro Togliatti, stresses that collaboration between the U. S. and the Kremlin is both practical and desirable.

While this appears to indicate a marked change in the Soviet attitude toward the west, no such trend has been evident in the communist's directives to Europe's Communist parties.

On the contrary, the latest communist directives urge a tightening of militant discipline within Communist parties, and the hastening of plans for world revolution in the event of war.

Senate Majority Leader Wherry (R) Neb., contended that the president's program made deficit spending inevitable. He said it would "threaten if not destroy our national solvency."

But most Democrats and Republicans alike praised the chief executive's words.

Sen. Connally (D) Tex., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said: "I think what he had to say about Communism is very timely and I am in full agreement."

WASHINGTON IS NEARING NORMAL

parade witnessed, police estimated, by 1,300,000 persons. . . . An occasion made even more memorable by January "Truman weather," bright sunshine all day long. . . .

The spectacular presidential reception at the National Gallery of Art, with 7,500 invited guests struggling for a chance to shake the President's hand. . . . last night's inaugural ball, declared by the U. S. experts on such matters to have been the most glamorous ever held. . . .

In its aftermath, the inauguration with all its superlative aspects seemed to Washingtonians to have taught anew that peculiarly American lesson—that the ball game's never over until the last man's out in the last inning.

Unusual Battle

A year ago, confronted with a hostile Congress, Mr. Truman was given only the slimmest chance of returning to the White House in 1949 as its occupant for a full four-year term.

And as 1948 wore on his chances seemed to get worse, instead of better. His own party was torn in dissension, Henry Wallace took a walk and carried the extreme left-wingers with him. The States Rights movement disrupted the traditionally Solid South. Big city bosses turned on the President and sought to draft Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But Mr. Truman stayed in there swinging. He went before a spiritless Democratic national convention and breathed life into it with a fighting speech that probably never will be forgotten by students of politics.

In a defiant—some called it a desperate—gesture, he called the Republican Congress back into session in the broiling heat of a Washington summer.

The Congress didn't give him what he asked for, but his gesture served its purpose. Even though the pollsters couldn't believe it, he gained ground steadily throughout the autumn campaign—and Election Day told the story.

So Washingtonians reasoned today that Mr. Truman earned what he got yesterday—a dazzling tribute to a fighting man from Missouri who didn't know when he was licked.

WESTERN EUROPE HAILS INAUGURATION

Reynaud said he was struck especially by the note of American "altruism."

But, the Communist Daily Worker in London sounded an expected discordant note. It compared the President's speech with the Soviet report of progress in the third year of the current five-year-plan.

The London Times, praising Mr. Truman's emphasis that the U. S. must share in solving world problems, called for joint Anglo-American cooperation in the development of the Middle East and other areas.

It added: "It is only such measures as that that can call a halt to the spread of communism in Asia and Africa."

COST OF THE STORMS

There is no way to accurately determine the cost of such storms as have visited a wide section of the West in one, two, three staccato. Many lives have been lost and property damage has been extensive.

In the cattle and sheep country livestock losses have been ruinous in many sections. Business of all kinds have been at virtual standstill while the populace concentrated on the Herculean tasks of keeping warm and obtaining food.

Rapid City, a town of 25,000, metropolis of the South Dakota Black Hills, was without transportation to and from the outside world by train and bus for weeks. Utilities, particularly telephone and electric companies, suffered great loss in Kansas and Oklahoma. Miles of wires went down under the weight of snow and sleet. In Pittsburgh, Kans., 20,000 of the city's estimated 50,000 trees were destroyed or damaged beyond salvage.

Cost of snow removal on city streets and county highways will be tremendous. Interruption of normal business is a factor that will be felt far beyond the areas struck by the storms. The country has become weather-conscious as never before as it faces the depressing realization that the winter has merely started.

NO NEWS FROM BERLIN

What, come to think of it, is happening in Berlin? The cold war is still focused there. American and British planes still land every few minutes, day and night, in all but the very worst weather. And that means that the Soviet blockade of Berlin is as tight as it ever was. Berlin still has two city governments and two police forces, each claiming to represent all Berlin. But there is no news.

What this indicates is that familiarity breeds contempt. These incidents, once so alarming, have become a status quo. They no longer excite remark. Both sides now recognize what was not clear before—that at the moment neither intends to disturb the precarious.

Each side is now trying to outwit the other, and there the advantage is with the Russians. Their seat is broad. It extends back through the Soviet zone of Germany, south to Czechoslovakia and Hungary, east through Poland all the way to Moscow. By contrast the western Allies are flagpole sitters fed by carrier pigeons. They are perched, not ensconced.

Russia (happily watching events in the Far East and the Middle East, is letting the German people stew in their own juice. Soviet efforts to force the issue in Berlin only served to antagonize them and they drew closer to the West for protection. Now they are less frightened, and their hostility toward the western occupation powers is rising again. Russia is doing nothing to prevent it.

Reports from the western zones of Germany indicate that the Germans are more united than at any time since the war, with all parties joining to oppose any severe occupation statute. This attitude is delaying western plans for consolidating the American, British and French zones, and to that extent is playing into the hands of Russia.

That is ominous in its implications for the future. But it is not material for scarce headlines.

SO-O-O, BOSS!

A good list of rules for farm safety has been released by the National Safety Council. One of them is this: "We will speak to animals when approaching them and be especially cautious around bulls."

If there is any one form of politeness that animals appreciate more than another, it is being spoken to by an approaching member of the human race. The most domestic of animals are never so relaxed or sleepy that they do not retain something of the wild instinct to be on guard against sudden danger.

Otherwise why should a horse be frightened by a sudden footstep behind him? If he is high-strung he may tremble for minutes afterward. If he is startled out of his wits he may kick. And that's when a foolish person can get hurt.

Does politeness pay within the kicking radius of a horse? Yes-siree. "Whoa, boy, whoa, there!" can be spoken in low tones to a sleeping horse—from his left side, of course—so that he will welcome his two-legged friend coming into the stall.

As for a sleeping dog, he despises to be startled by a child that comes upon him unawares and suddenly pats him. Then there are the creatures to do harm to a person, but can and do harm themselves when startled. A sudden noise has been known to stampede thousands of baby chickens into corners, to pile up and smother.

Politeness to animals surely pays on the farm. When visiting a farm where there's a bull, it is advisable to speak quietly and respectfully to him—just as the rules say.

It all amounts to a total loss when you spend all your money to prove that you have it.

Practically everybody contributes to the national tax kitty—at so much purr.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Cries of anguish are being raised in the Soviet press over the trial of 11 top communist leaders in New York—just as everyone suspected. But the official publications of the Kremlin also have taken advantage of this opportunity to denounce the whole system of American justice—somehow surprising to anyone who does not accept the general Soviet thesis that white is black.

The theory of Soviet law, of course, is that the State is paramount. And inasmuch as the State itself is composed of human beings, it follows that any individual who raises voice or finger against any component part of it automatically subjects himself to severest reprisals.

System Was Exposed

This system was exposed to the world in the historic Moscow treason trials when the Soviet committed a diplomatic blunder of the first magnitude, so far as international relations are concerned at least, by throwing them open to the public.

It was not so at the beginning. The Moscow trials were the direct outgrowth of the assassination in 1934 of the Communist leader of Leningrad—Sergei Kirov, a protégé and close friend of Joseph Stalin whom many believed, had been chosen as his ultimate successor.

Hundreds were arrested and tried behind closed doors, and 117 leading figures were executed. They were blamed solely for the killing of Kirov.

But two years later, indictments were handed down against 16 men who had assisted Stalin in his rise to power. The indictments emphasized that the subsequent investigation of the Kirov killing had uncovered a plot to kill Stalin himself.

Magnitude Emphasized

The magnitude of the alleged crime was shouted from the rooftops. The great Hall of Nobles, one of the most imposing buildings in Moscow, was transformed into a theatre.

Andrei Vishinsky, one of the shrewdest of Communist lawyers, later to gain world fame at the United Nations, was chosen as prosecutor. The public was allowed to attend to the limit of seating capacity and the world press was summoned to cover the event.

Then began the most astonishing

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Evelyn Waugh, the British novelist, told newspapermen on his arrival back in London from the United States that "it is almost impossible to live the good life in the United States."

He also admitted that he would go back next month for a series of lectures at $550 each.

I was just going to write "this item made me very mad"—but it didn't.

It made me laugh. What does make me mad is how we fall for almost everything with a British accent—or pretty nearly any foreign accent—and that we not only turn "the other cheek" but our pocketbooks as well.

Evelyn Waugh is a good writer. But facts don't concern him a bit.

This is what he told the British reporters about Hollywood: "They heat their rooms to 75 degrees, then they nail the windows down so that you suffocate. They have colored bubble gum. Their radios are on all day. And they talk too much."

But—and these are my own words, not Mr. Waugh's: "there certainly is nothing wrong with their money."

A book, entitled "New Directions 19," has just come off the press. I read the review of it in the Saturday Review of Literature and shall certainly not buy it.

It is a sort of anthology of 46 unconventionalists most of whom, as Harrison Smith, the reviewer, says "seem to agree that the United States is a horrible place in which to live."

Here is what Mary McCarthy says about us primitives: "If (the American) has any feeling he will be humbled by the very prospect of a foreigner's visit to Congress."

According to her, our legislators are, for the most part, "illiterate hacks whose fancy vests are spotted with gravy, and their speeches with the gravy of political patronage."

Here is what James Laughlin, who edited the book and wrote the introduction, says about our country: "I am strongly apathetic to the visual and aural vulgarities of the United States—things that so constantly offend the eye the ugly buildings and almost everything the automobile has brought us) and the ear (what comes out of the radio and jukebox)."

Well, that's enough of that. Personally, I like our ugly buildings, which, to me, are beautiful. I like our gray-bespattered legislators, because gray goes with prosperity. I like our radio and jukeboxes, because they stand for gaiety and happiness.

And I certainly like our literature. Particularly the kind that the visiting authors and artists seem to worship and have not yet criticized, as far as I know.

I have seen them read it in the Stork Club and the Waldorf and the St. Francis and the Pump Room.

It is entitled "Menu" and the hero is a juicy steak.

That, to me, is digestible culture. (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

ing performance in the history of crime and punishment.

One after another the defendants gave way to a torrent of confession and self-reproach. Tears flowed so freely and chests were thumped so frequently that the spectators were torn between amusement and pity over the debasement of strong men who had helped to build a new nation out of a decadent aristocracy.

All eventually were shot, of course, but the conviction persists that the defendants either were drugged or were forced into their theatrical displays by threats of torture or reprisals upon their families.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WATCH OUT FOR TEASING

Teasing of a child under four or five by a brother or sister a year or more older is about as sure to happen as for them to breathe. We can greatly reduce teasing, but about the only way to prevent it absolutely is to annihilate one of the children.

Of course, teasing is not always by the older child. Occasionally it is by the younger and the teaser may be of any age. Sometimes the teaser is an uncle, aunt, parent or grandparent. Some bachelor uncles and a few grandfathers may be great offenders, teasing a tot just to see him "get mad." Only he would read to the youngster, make things with him, and enjoy the little tyke's creation, he would be less inclined to tease. There are times when the little victim's parents should command the annoyance to quit his barbarity, even at the cost of breaking a family tie with this annoyance. The parents' first obligation is to the child.

Seeking Assurance One of the most primitive urges of a human being is to seek assurance of superiority and, therefore, to lord it over anyone he can. The helpless child is an easy victim for an adult; also a younger child for an older.

This urge to seek feelings of superiority is strengthened in the older of two young children by his fear that he may be losing what he supposed was his superior role in the family. Call it jealousy if you like (my bulletin on jealousy may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, N. Y.). As you can see, this fear of losing the superior role tends to be very strong in the first child toward the second. For months or years this older child was the center of the universe, as he supposed. In spite of the greatest precaution by the parents the arrival and stay of the next child assures the older that he has lost much of his importance and is in danger of losing more.

Personal Loss Without thinking it through he is inclined to tease and torment the younger child, who is the symbol of his personal loss. If not properly guarded the younger child, especially in early infancy, may be seriously, even fatally, injured by the older. A few cases are on record in which the older child as young as three or four has killed a baby brother or sister. A former student of mine informed me some years ago that she once arrived on the scene just in time to save her baby three months old. The older child, four, was forcing his fingers down the infant's throat. Such cases are, of course, rare.

It's when the baby can get around and seize things that he can prove the greatest nuisance to the older.

Here is a definite program to follow:

1. Protect the infant from physical harm by the older child.
2. Through positive suggestions build up tenderness in the older toward the younger.
3. Help the older to win more and more satisfaction in his play alone and with other children his age.
4. Establish and protect individual ownership early.
5. For some years the biggest problem is to protect the elder from the barbarism of the baby.
6. Teach taking turns with playthings in common.
7. Expect lots of quarreling. When it gets too bad merely separate them but don't have a trial to place blame.
8. As children grow older encourage each to play much with others of his age and help each child to gain more satisfaction from achievement and to feel worthy. (My bulletin, "Fighting and Quarreling," may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

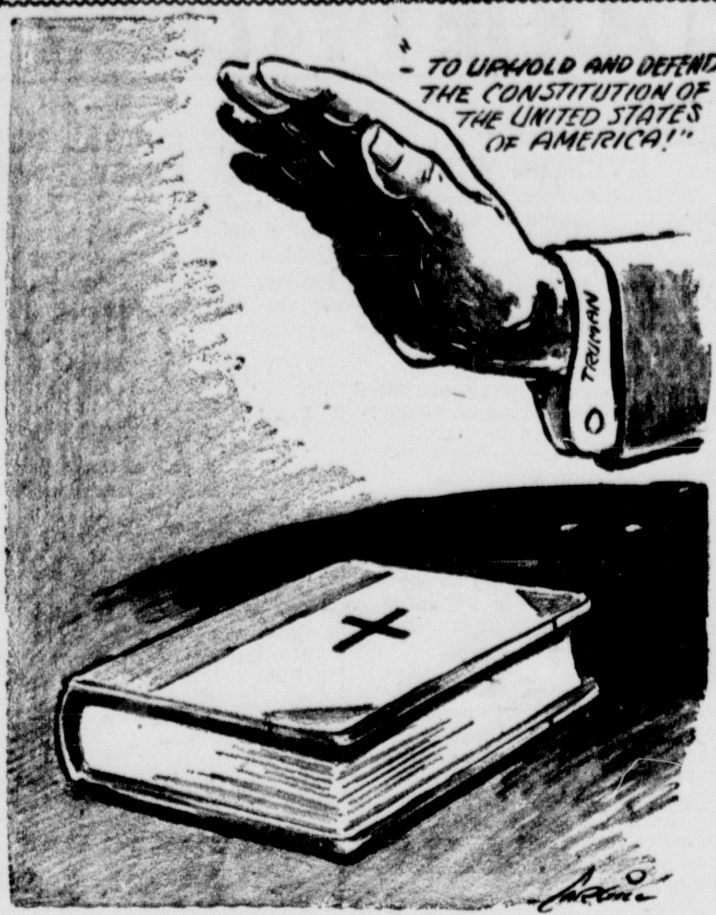

You should be interested in this notice . . . hundreds and hundreds and even thousands of you good people should be interested in the fact that on January 26 . . . at the Castleton Hotel . . . a very important meeting, the annual meeting of the Community Chest will be held . . . Anyone who contributes to the Community Chest during the year preceding is a bonafide member of the "Chest" and invited and urged to attend this annual meeting . . . Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Looking Ahead For Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Republican emotions in the face of all the fuss and feathers of the inauguration run the gamut, as Dorothy Parker once put it, from A to B. That is to say, from Haughty disdain to contempt, with a touch of wistful envy bravely concealed.

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who is understandably bitter because the Democrats reduced the number of Republicans on the Foreign Relations committee of the Senate and thereby kept him from a place, called it a Roman holiday.

It is that certainly, except that these symbolic days when the populace turns out to see the power of the state on parade go back a long way before Rome. It seems to me that the responsible managers of the Republican party with something more than disdain. Anyone who views the spectacle at all realistically must see beneath the frothy surface the vigor and new strength that came out of the Nov. 2 victory.

Looking Ahead Mingling with the visitors from out in the country, you get a yeasty sense of participation. This is their triumph and, what is more, they are looking ahead to four years from now with the belief that almost certainly somewhere in the crowd is the man who will succeed President Truman as standard-bearer of the party and, if they have anything to say about it, as president.

There are, first of all, the new senators and representatives whom Washington is just beginning to know. Among them are outstanding men certain to be heard from in the next four years.

But here, to are the new governors who came in with the unexpected uprising of last November. Gov. Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, has an exceptional opportunity to make a national reputation, and attention is already focussed on him.

At 49, with a background of wide experience in public life both at home and abroad and with a distinguished name, he has a chance to clean up the fearful mess left behind in Springfield by the corrupt Republican machine. The task will be far from easy, since the corruption went so deep. But this means that success would be that much more conspicuous.

Another Being Watched Another governor who will be watched with special interest is G. Mennen Williams of Michigan. At 37, with no prior experience in office-holding or even campaigning, he defeated the veteran politician, Kim Sigler. The story has been widely told of how he put a mortgage on his home when his rich Republican family declined to have anything to do with what seemed a fruitless effort.

Williams had the active backing of virtually all trade-union organizations in Michigan with its highly concentrated industry. They may, of course, demand so much from their new governor that he will be put under serious embarrassment.

Still another governor is Chester Bowles of Connecticut. Against the advice of most of his sensible friends, he ran for the governorship in a state that seemed overwhelmingly Republican. Like Stevenson, he will have a tough row to hoe since his legislature is Republican.

New-Found Vigor The new-found vigor of the party is evidenced not only by individual Negro leaders from various parts of the country are here, many of them attending an inauguration for the first time and participating in the events connected with it. This is understandable, since if any single bloc of votes contributed to the Democratic victory, it was the Negro bloc.

But here is a question for the Republican managers. Is the Negro vote to be permanently attached to the Democratic party? The Democratic jubilation may, of course, be premature. There is a possibility that the victory of Nov. 2 will be dissipated in ancient quarrels. In a first test, which incidentally had a look of petty spite in it, enough old guard Democrats joined the Republicans to stop the attempts to exempt the amusement tax tickets sold to inaugural functions.

But no matter what the future may hold, the present outpouring was a formidable one. It implies growth and development in the direction indicated by the electoral last fall. In the light of this demonstration, waiting for the Democrats to trip and fall hardly seems adequate.

(Copyright, 1949, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

They Say WASHINGTON—President Truman—"I've always said there are at least a million in the United States who could do the job better than I can. But I have the job and the duty."

ALBANY—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, former GOP presidential candidate—"I am really delighted to be in Albany tonight. At least I am in the State of New York where Republicans control both houses of the Legislature."

PARIS—David McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the CIO Steel Workers Union—"I regret that the left-wing national centers attempted to turn the World Federation of Trade Unions into a body completely subservient to the communist information bureau."

"Subject Today Is Mink"

By PAUL GALLICO

This will probably be of more interest to ladies than to men, though I can foresee certain overtones or angles that might engage the attention of a gent, so you boys might as well stick around. Our subject today is Mink, or as it is called in the parlors where they peddle it—Meenk.

It seems the other night the Missus and I went to a show, a benefit performance for something or other, and pretty soon she was shaking her head in some kind of distress and going, "Tsk-tsk-tsk. Oh, this is awful; this is really terrible."

It was not the show or the actors who were causing her distress for we had bought our way into "Kiss Me Kate," which is quite one of the most enchanting musicals I have witnessed in many a year, so during the intermission I explored the cause of her pain and she said, "Why just look all around you. EVERYBODY is wearing mink. This is really bad!"

By George, It Was True

Well, I looked, and by George, it was true. The ladies in the audience were fairly dripping mink, Labrador Mink, Canadian Mink, Natural Mink, Platina Mink, Ranch Mink, Store Mink, Home-Made Mink, light, dark and medium dark.

I said, "Is that bad? Business must be picking up." It seems it isn't good. Meenk has become as common as kitty-cat. Either the mink is letting go of its rind at a lower wage scale, or people have a lot of dough, or guys are being more generous with what they have. But the Missus was quite right in her observation. Practically every dame in the audience was equipped with some kind of polecat peel. It was practically a uniform. Goombie mink! Just before the curtain went up for the second act, the Madame informed me that she was going to take HERS and have it made over into the lining for a new cloth coat. Great Jehoshaphat! Do you get it? A lining!

Came As Great Blow

This came naturally as a great blow and shock to me who am a one-mink-coat man. It's a kind of a thing in our bracket toward which you strive and work and save and point, sort of like membership in an exclusive country club, or a high-priced car, or a nodding acquaintance with the president of a bank. Or, if this were Great Britain, a knighthood.

So I made it. It took thirty years of massaging a typewriter, but we finally got the coat. And there's been nothing but trouble ever since. First the New Look happened and the darned thing turned out to be eight inches too short. And now everybody's got one.

We laughed when Valentina cracked, "Meenk? Meenk is for football!" Ha ha! Meenk is now for linings. Maybe also for automobiles, rugs and footwarmers. You'll just have to face it, girls. Times have changed. There are just too darned many minks in the world. Throw away that old mink wrapper. The whole thing is just a snare and a delusion. We've been had.

How Does It Strike You?

I dunno how it strikes you, but it seems that we're always getting had. Used to be if you owned a string of pearls which was handed down in the family for generations you never had to worry. What are pearls today? Beads. Now they make 'em by the bushel with an assist from the oyster. Call 'em "cultured" pearls.

You still have to dig for diamonds, but wait until they get those atomic cookers working. They'll bake your sparklers to order at ten bucks a peck. How's a feller and his gal going to show off that they've made a little scratch over and above the eating money?

Now we've got to invent some brand new animal for fur, something that marries only once in a lifetime and then has but one child. Yeah, I know that Russian sable is still 'way up there, but you don't get met shooting for that one. By the time I collect enough moollah for that I'm an old man, somebody will have found out how to get sables to breed on the assembly line and EVERYBODY will have one. The chinchilla's enough incentive. The chinchilla just loves to breed. Give the chinchilla enough incentives and in six months a dozen of them will fill the Yankee Stadium with their progeny.

See what I mean girls, about the deary days ahead of you? (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

She was awarded the National Book Award of the National Bookellers' association in 1936 for the year her novel was published, and won the Pulitzer prize in 1937. Miss Mitchell is Mrs. John E. Marsh in private life.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HYPOCHONDRIAC "How well you look!" I said, and he began his aches to tell. He seemed annoyed that he should be appearing to be well.

I thought: "How well you look!" to say. Would any fellow please. Said he: "Although look well I may, I've every known disease."

"No one believes that I am ill," He added with a frown. "It's time I took another pill." Right there he gulped it down.

If time to hear the stuff, you lack. The fills the medic's books, Don't tell a hypochondriac. How well you think he looks. (Copyright, 1949, Edgar A. Guest)

Take Shoes, for Instance There are 502 different taxes levied on leather, which goes into a pair of shoes. Of these levies, 208 are shared by the Federal Government, 136 by the State and 86 are local. Even after these taxes have been paid, there are others for the consumer to bear. Now these figures were taken from an article appearing recently in The American Magazine. The American Magazine does not content itself by filling the reader's mind with confusion and rebellion. It leaves a suggestion:

Let there be a law which would compel the merchant to mark each item on his shelves so that the buyer could know the amount of taxes he is paying. Fix it so that when the customer pays 20 cents for a can of peas he can say:

"I paid 15 cents for the peas and five cents in taxes." It might help.

NEW ROADS

It seems to be dangerous to use new roads before they are completed. Usually there are signs posted to warn motorists of danger.

Sometimes it is dangerous to use new remedies or medicines.
A new remedy may seem to be fine at first but later serious drawbacks and dangers may show up.
Many new drugs or methods have been introduced which seemed to promise good success.
Later much serious difficulties occurred that they had to be abandoned.

Safety first is a pretty good slo-

Ask Ban On Passing Standing School Bus

HARRISBURG.—The Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women in their final meeting at the Farm Show, last week, adopted a resolution urging "that the present session of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania enact legislation making it unlawful for a motorist to pass a school bus taking on or discharging passengers." The resolution stated that loss of life on public highways is increasing and urged speed limit laws be more strictly enforced.

The farm women also resolved to ask all schools "to avail themselves of some form of school lunch program—a full hot lunch if possible, or at least half pint bottle of milk for every pupil daily."

Find Quantity Of Old Unused Street Signs

Years ago when the old New Castle Chamber of Commerce was operating, an order for metal direction signs, pointing to New Castle was placed.

Apparently not all of them were used for recently, Nelson Runyan, who purchased the Greer Building on Mercer street found about 400 of them packed away in an unused closet.

The direction signs were turned over to J. C. Wachtman of the Greater New Castle Association.
Because of the wording upon the signs Mr. Wachtman thought they were a bit outdated and asked Councilman James Gibson of the street department if they were of any use to him.

They were and are. A little dark paint will blot out the present wording and some brighter paint can be used to make new direction signs.

Metal signs are still hard to get and the "find" comes in handy for the street directional signs.

Insecticide Users Should Use Caution

HARRISBURG.—While the new insecticide, parathion, shows considerable usefulness against vegetable pests, it should be applied with caution, Bruce D. Gleissner, entomologist with the American Cyanamid Company told members of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association at their meeting last week at the State Farm Show.

Timing of applications is the most important factor, he said.

Parathion has been used and tested for only two years, but has already been found effective on Mexican bean beetle, red spider mite and aphids on beans, aphids on peas, tomato, cabbage and onion thrips, he said. It has also shown some effective control on leaf-hopper, armyworm, webworm, tomato hornworm, corn borer and cornworm, potato beetle, leafhop-per, and the flea beetle.

Gleissner reviewed the various tests conducted to determine toxic effects of parathion.

He said the new chemical can be applied both as a liquid and as a dust. Most important is the timing of applications in relation to harvest dates, so that seven to 14 days fall between the two dates.
In this way most of the residual material either has been volatilized or washed off the vegetables, Gleissner explained.

New Mexico averages in the year about 214 clear days and 99 partly cloudy days.

Traffic Squad Needed In City Says Committee

In the opinion of the mayor's traffic study committee, a traffic squad is needed in New Castle as a part of the police department.

Meeting Thursday at noon in The Castleton for the monthly luncheon meeting the matter was broached.
It was pointed out that a traffic squad is listed by the mayor and council as one of the improvements needed in New Castle.

The traffic study committee agrees with the need but it was suggested that before a traffic squad be put to work that the members be trained in traffic direction, not merely transferred from a beat to the traffic squad.

The suggestion of the committee will be handed to the mayor and city council.

English Women Spur Business In Toupees

Sales Of Wigs Proves To Be A $50,000 Weekly Business In London, England

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 21.—(INS)—British women have pushed the nation's wig business into the big time.

Thousands of women—more than ever before—are refusing to look the bald facts in the mirror and are covering up with manufactured tresses.

Because a bald pate is catastrophic to a woman, London wig-makers alone are enjoying a weekly turnover estimated at well over $50,000.

There is no doubt that it is British women who have made the wig business a big business. Wig-makers, hairdressers and barbers all agree that few men bother to wear wigs or toupees these days. The male side of the business has actually slumped.

A wig for a woman is an expensive article of glamor. In London's West End they cost a minimum of $125 and—according to the wig-makers—women realize that a cheap wig is a dead giveaway.

Three Ounces of Hair

Three ounces of hair and three weeks of diligent, highly-specialized labor go into the making of a single female wig.

Most of the hair for milady's wigs comes from Italy under special import license. Good hair of the right color, length and quality is rare in Britain today because of the prevailing fashion of short hair.

Britain's Ministry of Health is most sympathetic to ladies who have lost their crowning glory.

Under New Health Scheme

Under the new National Health Scheme the government provides wigs free of charge on a doctor's prescription. Injury to the head, disease of even psychological necessity is enough to qualify for a wig at the nation's expense.

Recently, a woman applied for a wig through the National Health Scheme and enclosed a doctor's prescription. The authorities readily granted her request. In fact they allowed her two wigs at no cost.

The sympathetic civil servant dealing with the application realized that a wig must be washed now and again and lack of a spare might prove most embarrassing.

Commuter Route Marks Centennial

NEW YORK.—(INS)—The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, one of the chief arteries today for up-river commuters, is celebrating the centennial anniversary of its first run into New York City.

The first train made the 76-mile run from New Haven, Conn., in slightly under four hours, returning the same day—Dec. 27, 1848.

The run was completed by horsepower, the city fathers refusing to allow the railroad's locomotive to penetrate south of 27th street.

By February, 1849, an estimated 1,000 passengers a day were being brought into New York. A yearly commuters' rate of $50 was established to and from New Rochelle.

Greenwich Misses Opportunity Originally, Greenwich, Conn., was intended as a "half-way station" where trains would take on wood and water and allow passengers 20 minutes to eat. However, the high price demanded for land at Greenwich caused the midway point to be switched to Stamford, 11 miles.

Production Of Coal Greater During 1948

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Commercial production of the anthracite industry during 1948 approximated 54 million thousand net tons, according to the anthracite institute.

In its year-end review, the institute pointed out that the 1948 figure was slightly above that of 1947, when 54,050,000 tons were produced.

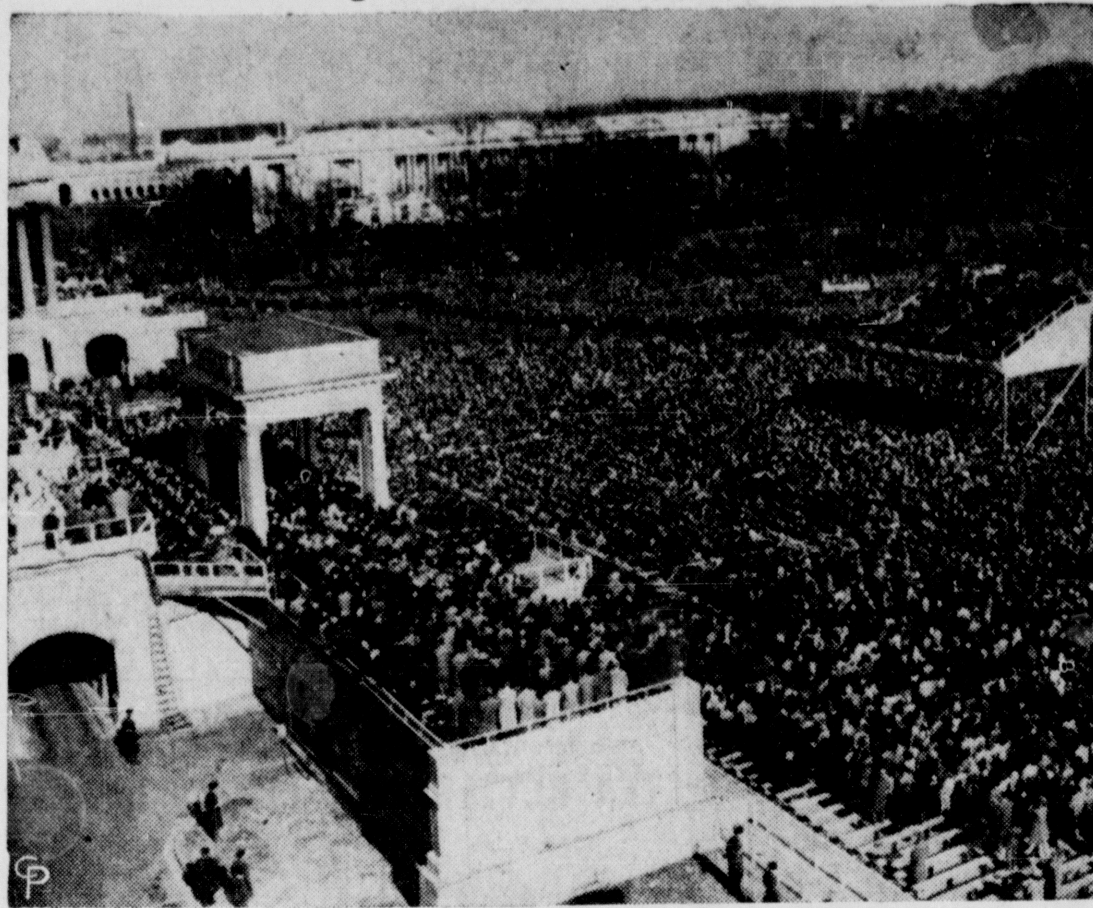

A shortage of railroad cars at some mines and unseasonable fall weather combined to limit this year's tonnage, the institute reported.

More coal was available for domestic consumption, however. The overseas export movement during the first ten months of 1948 was only 51 per cent of that during the comparable period of 1947.

The home market was increased by anti-smoke ordinances in some cities, causing many industries to turn to anthracite.

A marked increase in the sale of anthracite stokers was noted during the past year by the institute. Over one thousand anthracite stokers have been installed in the anthracite marketing area.

One Man Is Missing Three Injured As Southern Hotel Burns

WILMINGTON, N. C., Jan. 21.

(INS)—One man is missing and three others were injured early today in a fire that destroyed the historic Orton hotel and wiped out nearly half a block of Wilmington's business district.

Firemen from Wilmington and nearby Wrightsville Beach fought the roaring, million dollar blaze to a standstill until about 5 a.m.

They began an immediate search of the four-story hotel for J. R. Mallard, 68-year-old Charlotte man who was missing. About 40 other guests were safely evacuated from the blazing building.

Fire Chief J. Ludie Croom said the unaccountable fire began in a dress shop on the first floor of the Orton and then ate quickly through pine flooring to the upper stories of the building.

Later the flames spread to a theater and five other business houses, causing extensive damage to all.

The city of Oswego, N. Y., was established as a military station and trading post about 1724, incorporated as a village in 1828, and chartered as a city in 1848. Owing to its location on Lake Ontario, it was a most important post in King George's War and the French and Indian wars.

Playing cards were first brought into use in 1376 to amuse King Charles V of France. The cards were first painted, but about 1400 they were printed from wooden blocks.

Tin Cans Solving Tough Air Problem

RED BANK, N. J.—(INS)—With sea-level air and an ordinary tin can, electrical engineers have conquered one of their toughest problems in the modern era of high-altitude flying.

The problem stems from the fact that airborne electrical equipment loses efficiency and wears out quickly at extremely high altitude.

The Red Bank division of Bendix Aviation Corporation used sea-level air with a Number 2 can to seal it around its dynamos. Thus, these rotating transformers are surrounded by sea-level efficiency, even though it actually may be 20 miles in the air.

Styles Blouses Now For Larger Women

NEW YORK.—(INS)—George Baroness, blouse manufacturer, may soon be enshrined in the ample hearts of the large-sized woman—the forgotten woman of fashion.

Last year Baroness designed and manufactured a line of blouses for women, sizes 38 to 52. The big girls grabbed them up. This year he has manufactured a greater array of styles and designs. The Baroness line includes more than 20 styles. In addition, he has introduced colors to the heretofore very clinical looking large special blouse.

Common fallacies that Baroness plans to dispel are:

1. That women who wear large sizes are old women.
2. That V-neck or straight up and down lines are the only styles that can minimize the size of these women.

Baroness says his blouses are for the young, big girl as well as the matron. They are high styled and not confined to the v-neck or vertical lines.

A Texas farm owner estimated that rats had destroyed at least $50 worth of oranges during one season by eating the seeds from the fruit.

Union Firemen Save Township Residence

Residence of David Henderson, 1311 West Washington street, just a short distance from the city line, was saved from destruction by quick action of the Union Township Fire department Thursday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock.

A defective chimney was the cause of a blaze which broke out in the downstairs of the home. According to Mr. Henderson, a grate had just been removed and evidently a board was to close to the defective place in the chimney. The fire was quickly brought under control by the firemen before it had much chance to spread.

Firemen estimated the damage at $50 which was covered by insurance. The home is located only three or four doors from the site of the Bransome home which was destroyed in a fire last year.

Final Report Of Sesqui Funds

Committee Makes Report Of Receipts An Expenses Of Last Summer Event

Sesqui-Centennial committee has approved a financial report of the Sesqui-Centennial corporation which was formed for the purpose of arranging for the celebration here last summer.

The report shows receipts of $57,195.91, and expenditures, $57,195.91.

The court of Lawrence county will be asked to dissolve the corporation, now that all of its business has been terminated, it is announced.

A detailed report of the corporation's financial situation is at the office of Mayor John F. Haven where it can be studied by anyone interested.

The report as approved by the committee, of which Worrel Jones was chairman, follows:

Alliance Group Names Officers

Johanson-Powell Bible class members of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, met at the home of Thomas McCann, Warren avenue for the annual business meeting and election of officers for 1949 on Thursday evening.

President, Harold Dangerfield presided and conducted the period of the devotion. The following officers were named to serve for 1949: President, Harold Dangerfield; vice president, Lynn Bupp; secretary, Lester Grimm; treasurer, Gerald Haggerty.

Following a social period, Mrs. McCann aided by her daughter, Susie, served a delicious lunch. The group will meet again on February 10 at the home of Miles Kennedy, for a social in honor of Rev. Russell Haggerty, a former member of the class.

MORE VIOLATIONS
HARRISBURG—Suspensions for violation of the motor vehicle code for the year 1948 totaled 22,026, an increase of 4,113 over the year 1947, the governor's highway safety advisory committee reported today. This was the largest number of suspensions since the year 1941 when the total was 24,751. The report submitted to the committee by the Bureau of Highway Safety, Department of Revenue, showed that speed violations led all others. Reckless driving was next in order. Revocations for driving while intoxicated totaled 1,543, an increase of 97 over the year 1947, while all revocations in 1948 totaled 2483, up 60 from 1947.

Chest Organization Meeting To Elect Board Of Directors

A complete new slate of members of the board of directors will be elected Wednesday night, January 26, at the annual meeting of the Community Chest members at The Castleton at 8 o'clock. Under the newly adopted constitution and by-laws, all contributors to the Chest are entitled to membership and are urged to take part in governing the organization.

Eight directors will be elected for a year term, eight for two years and eight more to serve for a three year period. In addition, two members from each agency of the Chest serve on the board.

General chairman, Sidney L. Lockley will present a final report on the 1948 Community Chest drive and each of the institutions supported by the Chest have been asked to submit a brief summary of their activities during the past year.

The new constitution of the Chest organization represents quite a change from the former one and it is planned that it will stimulate more active participation in the organization by all citizens of the community.

Home And Highways Are Biggest Killers

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21—(INS)—The home and highways were the biggest killers in Allegheny last year.

Allegheny County Coroner Dr. William D. McClelland's report for 1948 revealed that more than half the 790 accident deaths in the county last year occurred either in the home or on highways.

Specifically, 207 persons died of mishaps in the home, and 212 on the highways. Some 25 percent of the county's 3,070 deaths were accidental.

The report also showed that 30 persons died of carbon monoxide poisoning, 166 suicide deaths and 47 murders.

Sign Company Finds Shoe On Other Foot

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Plenty of motorists have griped about obscuring the scenery.

It was news in Oregon when an outdoor advertising company complained that wayside vegetation was obscuring the view of its signs. The highway commission declined to do anything about it.

President And Wife Watch Great Crowd Of Dancers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(INS)—The tumult and the shouting have died, but President Truman and his family are still knee-deep in inauguration celebrations today.

And the Chief Executive, the First Lady and their daughter Margaret see little hope of bettering their last week's average of five hours sleep per night in the near future.

Although the average Washingtonian was able to take the day off after dancing grooves in his patent leather pumps at last night's gay inaugural ball, the First Family has to be on the job bright and early.

It was only at 2 a.m. this morning that the Chief Executive called it an inaugural day and stepped smartly from his car in front of Blair House humming the St. Louis blues cheerfully and brightly.

Although the President and First Lady did not dance, they watched intently and with great amusement as 6,000 persons took to the dance floor of the huge District of Columbia Armory at once.

They signaled the end of the ball by leaving for home shortly before two o'clock in the morning.

16,000 ARE IDLED

SOUTH BEND, Ind. Jan. 21—(INS)—Virtually all of the 16,000 production workers in the Studebaker Corp. plant at South Bend were idled today by a dispute over piece work rates in the company's seat manufacturing division.

P. O. Peterson, vice president in charge of manufacture, said the "substantially" the whole passenger car plant of the auto firm has been shut down.

Peterson said the dispute is over piece work rates.

Mrs. Carl Faley, Mrs. John Anderson, Miss Lucille Anderson, William Anderson, Mrs. Ruth Swanson, and Mrs. Ezra Weinstein, of Jamestown, N. Y., have returned after attending the funeral of Mrs. C. J. William Gustafson here.

Jealous Suitor Plans Shooting Rival In Movie

CANTON, Ill. Jan. 21—(INS)—A jealous suitor related today how he planned the shooting of a rival in a Canton theater to coincide with the sound of a dynamite explosion in the movie "Due in The Sun".

The suitor, John Tovrea, 26, told police he sat through three showings of the film and "knew by heart" when the movie explosion of a carload of dynamite would take place.

Tovrea and Robert Pugh, 19, his rival for the affections of Rozine Williams, 19, were in the theater yesterday. Miss Williams and her sister, Ruth, 26, were sitting beside Pugh when Tovrea carried out his bizarre plot.

Behaved Strangely

Witnesses said Tovrea behaved strangely before the shooting, hopping from seat to seat in the darkened theater.

Tovrea told Police Chief Tom Harris that he finally settled two rows behind Pugh and the two girls.

Then, the police said, the jealous suitor waited for the explosion in the movie.

Suddenly a bullet creased the right side of Pugh's neck and came out his right ear. The second slug then struck an unidentified woman's ankle. Both were injured slightly.

Tovrea fled through a fire exit to a coal mine office three miles away. From there he called police to ask if a murder had been committed.

He was arrested soon afterward.

The green monkey is a native of West Africa. It is about the size of a cat, and its peculiarity is its complete silence. It is of a greenish hue above, although the hairs are really tinted with a mixture of yellow and black. Its extremities are darker, and its whiskers and under-surfaces are yellowish.

The grebe is a genus of diving bird usually frequenting rivers, and fresh-water lakes, visiting the sea only when migrating or in the winter. Its movements are ungainly on land, but it swims gracefully and is an expert diver, not using its wings, but propelling itself downward solely by the aid of its paddle-like feet.

'Living' Memorial Honors War Dead

AMHERST, Mass. — (INS) — A "living" memorial to 140 men who gave their lives in two world wars now dominates Amherst college campus.

The memorial consists of a huge granite block, surrounded by a group of benches on which are inscribed the names of the hero dead. From the center of the ring of benches can be seen an outdoor athletic plant covering five acres of the spacious campus.

The granite memorial, 20 feet in diameter and a foot and a half in height, forms the heart of the layout. In its center is carved the seal of the college, around which are 13 concentric circles, representing the 13 stripes of the flag. Outside these circles are 48 stars.

Latest On New Castle Folks Doings In South

By JAMES P. CALDWELL
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 17.

—It doesn't matter how warm it gets in the north, visitors still come to St. Petersburg where it's hotter. Right now is the height of the season, with the registration at over 27,000. New Castle is becoming better represented since the first of the year. Everything seems to be going along "hunkydory" except that the city has slapped a new tax on tobacco. Now the male bench sitters chew the rag while they chew the weed. Women smokers keep mum on the cigarette tax for fear their husbands will cut off their allowances. Taxes seem to be bothering everybody. They're like ticks on cattle or fleas on dogs. They keep everybody scratching.

Romancing Tax Free

The romancing business on the green benches is still tax free. Senator Pepper doesn't seem to have spotted this opportunity for more revenue. The only difference on the benches this season is a slight increase in the number of women. Chief Statistician Dan Cupid says formerly the ratio was six women to one man. Now it is six and one-half women to one man. So far as known there is no great rush for the one-half woman. The average man would not more know what to do with her than he does his income tax blank. Most of the men here who are in hiding say they won't come out until Cupid presents his ratio figures in round numbers.

Roosts Plentiful

Visitors are still finding it easy to spot a place to roost. All that is needed is a pocket-full of "mama" and a signature on the dotted line. One of those new plastic clothespins will be furnished free if you snore.

But don't bring Fido with you. Most landlords are allergic to dogs—same as some apartment owners are to babies. Aules are also a problem. There are thousands of them from all over Uncle Sam's tax basin. Police are driving them off the streets so that they can sweep—much to the delight of the parking lot boys.

Garages are out of the question, unless you are prepared to pawn your jewels. Parking meters are tired and threaten to strike.

Origin of Man

Just now green benches have dropped the state of the union to discuss the origin of man. Two monkeys in a drug store window have touched off the discussions. The monkeys haven't any record of their family tree and don't seem to know any more about their ancestors than most of the bench sitters. So the talk is still buzzing.

The monkeys appear to be aristocrats in their own right. They are coal black with white breasts and cream-colored half moons on their flanks. Of thousands who have viewed them, nobody has yet acknowledged relationship.

Former Walmo Pastor

Rev. D. E. Joseph, who used to live on Long avenue and who was graduated at the New Castle high school in the Class of 1925, is now pastor of the First Free Methodist church of St. Petersburg. He came here around two years ago from the Free Methodist church at Walmo. He finds sinners here, same as at Walmo. This is his fourth charge, the first being at Mercer, Pa., and the second at State College, Pa. He likes the climate and the people here, so has nothing to worry about but the collections.

The Misses Iretta Dart and Rebecca Wilkison, retired New Castle teachers, are spending the winter in St. Petersburg. They rest occasionally on the green benches strictly to absorb the sunshine.

Learning To Fish

Mr. and Mrs. James Cope and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Young are taking their sunshine straight at the Orange Blossom trailer camp. Cope formerly taught autos how to run; Young was caged in the Citizen's bank. Now they both fish and study for membership in the Ananias club.

John Emery, corner of Highland and Wallace, did everything but walk on his way to Florida. He came by train to Washington, missed an airplane, laid over until the next day, rode a plane to Jacksonville, and came from there to St. Petersburg by bus where Mrs. Emery gave him the glad hand. He is much interested in the Kids and the Kubs, the ball teams composed of players over three-quarters of a century old.

Baby Is Trump

There's nothing like a new baby to spotlight a home, as shown by the interest in a baby born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arnold and named Joseph Paul Arnold. Mrs. Arnold is a daughter of Chester W. Reynolds, and spent all her life in New Castle until about two years ago when she came to St. Petersburg. She married Arnold and the new baby arrived according to schedule, then the pilgrimages to see it began. First came Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hoffman, of New Castle, the latter a sister of Mrs. Arnold. Last week Mrs. Edna Thompson, another sister, flew in from Poland, O. Meanwhile, Grandad Chester Reynolds, after listening to all the baby talk, got excited and bought himself a larger-sized hat.

Carpenter Retires

Frank Houk, widely-known New Castle carpenter, now retired, is spending this winter in Tampa but comes over to St. Petersburg every few days. Most of Frank's carpentering was done when he didn't have to hire a dray to carry home his pay envelope. But he was thrifty and in his later years got into the building game on his own hook.

Another New Castle mechanic who is working here is S. M. Gunnnett, plasterer, who is slinging his trowel at $20 per day. Previous to coming here he worked in Washington, D. C., for several months at $175 a week. He explains that they were short of plasterers and he got double pay on Saturdays. At the height of the gold snower he got "rheumatiz" in his mud slinger and came here. He's feeling fine now and is threatening to buy a home here.

On Way Home

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Good stopped off here a few days on their way home from Sarasota, where Harold lost his appendix, also his respect for hospital expenses away from home. He was all alone when he was taken down but summoned Mrs. Good. Frank Houk also went down from Tampa. Harold is getting along fine but Mrs. Good will have to do all the driving. This won't be too hard for her, since she is a good driver.

Llewellyn Preston, former New Castle tinworker, and a graduate of the green benches, recently enjoyed a visit from his daughter, Mrs. Morley Sweet, of Wallace avenue. Lew hasn't been back to New Castle for several years, sort of getting weaned away from his old buddies. He and Mrs. Preston have a fine home here and he has quite a local reputation as a singist.

Start Week Right

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Francis, proprietors of the Ford agency on Croton avenue, came down on the "Choo-Choo" in order that their car might enjoy a much needed rest. They began this week right by going to church and were surprised to find the church packed long before the services began. Bill is going to get the recipe for homefolks. This is one of the greatest cities in the country for church attendance. Some of the pastors preach three or four sermons a day and there is some talk of enlarging collection plates.

Recent Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Allen, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Elsie Nettle, of Wallace avenue, arrived here last week, also Mrs. Eva May Buchanan, of Steubenville, O., a relative of Mrs. Nettle. Mr. and Mrs. Allen kill time fishing. They go out in a boat and don't come in until there are so many fish in the bottom of the boat that they start to mutiny. Other recent arrivals are Mrs. Ella Nolan, Mrs. Frank G. Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Harley E. Shoaff, James W. Wigton and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Carr.

COLE-PLASSMEYER HOME WEDDING

Before an improvised white altar banked with palms and fern in the home of her parents, Miss Ida Mae Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Cole, of 12 Grove avenue, became the bride of John J. Plassmeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Plassmeyer, of 3439 Chestnut street, Riverside, Calif. The candlelight ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening, January 20, with Rev. Patti C. Millard, of Titusville, former pastor of the Arlington Avenue Free Methodist church, officiating, before a large number of guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a neckline of lace ruffles, long fitted sleeves and a full skirt, which fell into a long train. Her full length veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible with a white orchid, pon-pons and streamers. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Lila Marie Cole, as her sister's maid of honor, was attired in a yellow net and satin gown. She wore a headdress of yellow net strips and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Joyce Ann Wiley, of Ellwood City, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue net and satin and a half veil of blue net. She carried arm bouquet of yellow roses.

James L. Shallenberger, Jr., of Ellwood City, served his cousin Wayne Cole, Jr., brother of the bride, Harless Shannon, of Mrs. and Kenneth Wiley of Ellwood City.

Mrs. Lester Shannon, of Ellwood City, played a recital of organ music before and during the ceremony. She also sang to her own accompaniment, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception in the home. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table beautifully appointed. Aides were Mrs. Robert Price, sister of the bride, Mrs. James Shallenberger, Jr., of Ellwood City, both sisters of the bride, Mrs. Harless Shannon, of Mrs. and Kenneth Wiley of Ellwood City.

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Rochester, N. Y., and upon their return they will reside for the present at 211 Line avenue, Ellwood City.

Mr. Plassmeyer is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Ellwood City, and was formerly employed in the personnel office of the United Engineering and Foundry company.

Mr. Plassmeyer, a graduate of Lincoln high school, Ellwood City, attended Pennsylvania State College and spent three years in the U. S. Army during World War II. He is now employed in the office of the National Plumbing and Fixture Corporation in Ellwood City.

Willing Workers class of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Laura Double in the home of her niece, Mrs. Calvin Westcott of the Harbor road on January 18.

The evening was spent playing games. Mrs. Laura Double received the hostess gift and Mrs. Frank Koch won the "pig in a poke."

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Calvin Westcott and Mrs. Russell Westcott.

Special guests of the evening were: Mrs. Russell Westcott and Mrs. Hanna of the Harbor road. Next social gathering to be held in the home of Mrs. W. G. McCune of Grandview avenue, on February 22.

Members of the Happy Dozen club gathered for their monthly meeting at the home of Miss Margie Snow, 1018 Becker street, Wednesday evening.

A shower was held in honor of Mrs. John McConnell, nee Dorothy Sokovitz, a bride of December 29, 1948. The honoree was presented with an array of lovely and useful gifts.

An informal time was spent playing games with prizes going to Mrs. Karl Kennedy, Mrs. Paul Rice, Mrs. Jack Rishor and Miss Nancy Perrotta.

Mrs. James Scilla was a special guest. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. James Snow, and Miss Betty Houk.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mr. Jack Rishor, of 318 North Shenango street.

SHOWER IS GIVEN FOR NEWLY WEDS

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Logue, of 107 Richelleu avenue, a group of friends and relatives gathered on Wednesday evening. The occasion was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Logue, a bride and groom of recent date.

The door prize was captured by Mrs. Ted Leubart.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess, aided by her daughters, Rita, Mary and Mrs. Paul McCay on tables nicely decorated with flowers.

The honored guests were the recipients of many beautiful useful gifts for their new apartment at 901 North Mercer street.

CUCITRONE, GRAZIANI ENGAGEMENT TOLD
Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Cucitrone, of 407 East Lutton street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Philomena Cucitrone, to Ralph Graziani, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Graziani, of 318 Phillips street. No wedding date has been set.

CURRENT EVENTS CLASS WILL MEET
Current Events class will meet Monday afternoon, January 24, at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Charles W. Wetlich, 314 East Edison avenue.

Simon Class Elects
Members of the Simon Bible Class of St. John's Lutheran church met in the home of Miss Vivian Monath, 1813 E. Washington street, Wednesday evening, January 19.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. A. E. Simon, after which reports of the class' various projects were made by Mrs. Kenneth Woodring and Mrs. Glenn Montgomery.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Kenneth Woodring; vice president, Mrs. Glenn Montgomery; secretary-treasurer, Miss Vivian Monath.

A social time was then enjoyed followed by a delicious lunch, served by Miss Monath and Mrs. Charles Drake, Sr., co-hostesses.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woodring, 834 Almira avenue, February 16, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Woodring and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Krueger will be co-hosts.

T.T.T. Group
Initial meeting of the T.T.T. group, formerly the N.I.L. club, took place on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. John Gwin, Schenley avenue. The evening hours were spent in sewing and socially, followed by the election of officers as follows: President, Ruth Borger; vice president, Ellen Gwin; secretary, Pauline Needs; treasurer, Mary E. Blews; reporter, Jean Collins.

Mrs. Jean Collins was awarded the special gift. The hostess also received lovely gifts for her home. Mrs. Gwin was aided in serving by Mrs. Borger. On February 3, the group will meet with Mrs. Pauline Needs, rear 730 Ridge street.

Distinctive New 1949 Chevrolets To Be Shown Here

'Big Car' Styling, Performance Embodied In New Creations To Be Displayed Saturday

"Big car" styling and performance are embodied in Chevrolet's new 1949 offerings to the public—the Fleetline and the Styleline—which will go on public display on Saturday, January 22, at the showrooms of the Chevrolet-Keystone company, 210 West Washington street. It has been announced.

Chevrolet's latest model has been completely restyled, lower, wider and more distinctive than any previous series. The Fleetline comes in two and four-door designs which are distinguished by the extension of the roofline in an unbroken sweep to the rear. In the Styleline, which appears in two and four-door sedans, sport coupe, three passenger business coupe, convertible wood and all steel station wagons, the sedans carry the "notch back" where the curvature of the roof meets the rear deck at the body belt line.

First impressions of the new cars is one of smart styling, structural strength and generous dimensions. The entire passenger compartment has been moved forward, lengthened, broadened and lowered, affording a pleasing balance in proportions. An immense increase in glass area will be observed by those viewing the new models. Gain in visibility over 1948 models is 30 per cent. Rear passengers are now cradled in a comfort zone between the front and rear axle.

New steering geometry, double acting shock absorbers, new gear-shift, improved carburetor, smaller wheels, simplified seat construction as well as new interior and exterior hardware, accentuate the new 1949 Chevrolets. Many other new ideas have been incorporated in the distinctive new cars.

Dramatic Mercy Flight Revealed

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 21.—(INS)—A Royal Canadian Air Force plane brought a sick Eskimo and a white man from 400 miles within the Arctic Circle to Winnipeg early today in a dramatic mercy flight.

Waiting ambulances met the plane and rushed the two patients through 30 below zero weather to a Winnipeg hospital.

The white man was Jack Dunn, a radio operator, who was stricken several days ago with severe abdominal pains at his meteorological station. He had received no medical attention.

The Eskimo was unidentified.

Three Holdup Men Are Executed

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Three holdupmen went to their death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison in the first triple execution at the Ossining institution since 1947.

The trio was executed last night for the slaying on Nov. 27, 1946, of Guillermo Nunez, a Chilean seaman, during a holdup at a New York hotel.

The three men were Eugene Pannel, 27; Will Grant, 25, and George Monge, 25, all of New York City.

GIRL SCOUTS

Troop 31

Girl Scout Troop 31, under the leadership of Mrs. J. H. Earl McKelzie and Mrs. Henry Wimer, held their weekly meeting at Highland church on Tuesday at 4 o'clock. Two new Brownie flyers were welcomed into the troop. They were Connie DeCarbo and Sue Adair Albert.

The scouts sang a number of old-time favorite songs and held a short business meeting. Mrs. McKelzie read more "thank you" notes and told the scouts about some of the activities that the other troops in town were doing.

Sara Lee Gerson showed the scouts a beautiful pair of copper book ends she had made and explained how she had made them. Marmee Houk explained the work the Pocahontas and Golden Wings patrols were doing and Eleanor Schoenberger did the same for the Star Maidens.

The 4-Leaf Clover scouts dramatized the play "Hansel and Gretel" arranged by Kathryn Eckert. More original poems were read by Roth Gibson, Amelia Bernd, Marlene Williams, Janice Brinkley and Carolyn Natcher. Sara Lee Gerson dramatized "The Little Red Hen" and Lillian Armstrong dramatized her own Chinese story, "The Basket of Fruit."

Concert Festival Musicians Present Student Matinee

Pupils Crowd Cathedral To Hear
100-Piece All-Star
Orchestra

After less than 11 hours of full rehearsal, the 100-piece student orchestra gathered in New Castle for a three-day concert festival, presented a school matinee in the crowded Cathedral auditorium this afternoon.

Excerpts from the full program to be presented Saturday evening delighted the gathering, who ranged in age from six-year-old first graders to seniors in high school and their teachers.

The concert, which was also broadcast, featured two New Castle high soloists, with orchestra accompaniment. Joseph Colaluca played a brilliant rendition of "Columbia Polka", by Rollinson, and James Maxwell's interpretation of "Blue Bells of Scotland", on his slide trombone was genuinely appreciated.

Woodwinds Featured
A cowboy song arrangement by Merle J. Isaac was another crowd pleaser. This group of numbers featured woodwind instruments and soloists were oboe, Suzie Denault of Hickory township; bassoon, John Pitzer of New Castle; flute, Doris Long of Hickory township, and clarinet, Charles Norton of Mars.

Two and a half more hours of rehearsal were scheduled for this afternoon and early evening, after which the talented musicians from 21 high schools in the six-county area will have the opportunity to enjoy a dance in the main dining room of the Cathedral.

Directors' String Clinic
The visiting directors, who have been extended the courtesies of the Greater New Castle association, will hold a string clinic while the dance is in session. Each of the directors brought his own instrument with him, and they are looking forward to this informative session which also affords a great deal of pleasure.

Saturday's schedule calls for a three-hour rehearsal in the morning, a theater party, an evening banquet and the big concert on the Cathedral stage at 8:15.

Ticket sales Thursday and today have shown a continuous increase and it is hoped that the Cathedral auditorium will be filled for the varied program to be played by some of the finest talent in the state.

BURGLARS LOOT PLACE
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21. — (INS)—Employees who opened up the office of Philadelphia Metal Drying Form Co. today found that nocturnal visitors had stolen a truck and loot estimated at $4,000. Police said burglars dropped 22 feet through a skylight into the North Philadelphia shop. The booty included two 100-pound drill presses and welding apparatus.

Mrs. Truman wipes back the tears that filled her eyes as her husband took the oath of office as President of the United States. Left to right are: Margaret Truman, Mrs. Truman, Supreme Court Clerk, Charles Elmer Cropley, holding a Bible and President's Truman's hat and President Truman.

Warrant Sworn For Missing Treasurer

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., Jan. 21. — (INS)—A warrant was sworn today for the arrest of Ray G. F. Leach, 22, charging him with "converting public monies to his own use." Leach, missing Snyder county treasurer, is wanted in connection with the reported embezzlement of more than $1,100 from county coffers. Dist. Atty. Horace W. Vought said the warrant was filed by Charles E. Wagner, a Snyder county auditor. Vought said Leach disappeared January 4.

Babson Gives Ideas On How To Kill Tornadoes

By ROGER W. BABSON

Copyright—1949—Publishers Financial

Bureau, Incorporated

BABSON PARK, Fla., Jan. 21.—At Warren, Ark., a few days ago occurred a tornado which is reported to have killed 59 persons and injured about 250 more. Every few months some such disaster occurs in the U. S. Most of them are in the southern center of the country; but every one of the 48 states has, at some time, one of these tornadoes. Therefore, this is a subject in which everyone should be interested.

What About Hurricanes?

Before discussing tornadoes, let me say a word about hurricanes. These originate on the ocean and can be prevented by "killing" them at their birth. For instance, the hurricanes which hit the south Atlantic states and Florida, and the Gulf states, start 2,000 miles or more away—mostly east of the Leeward Islands and the Caribbean sea. When they hit our southeastern states, these hurricanes may have a diameter of 100 to 500 miles. The diameter varies with each hurricane, but can easily be measured in each case. We have been hit by about 150 major hurricanes since 1930. These have done tremendous damage.

If our navy would patrol the waters, with small airplane carriers, where these hurricanes originate, they could easily be detected. As the aviator would come to a small area where the barometer suddenly drops to 28, he would know that this area is a danger spot worth watching. It then might not be more than 2,000 to 5,000 feet or less than a mile in diameter at its birth. Authorities differ as to how they would kill it; but I say that it can be killed. They are most common in the fall months.

How Tornadoes Can Be Killed

Tornadoes originate on the land, due to "a dead warm spot" of very low pressure, overlaid by a cold high pressure heavy area, held down by gravity. Tornadoes come with less warning and at all times of the year. Often they have a diameter of only a few miles, and the core (which does the damage) may be only a fraction of a mile. Furthermore, they last for a much shorter time than do hurricanes. As tornadoes are more frequent than hurricanes, the nation's total annual loss from tornadoes can equal or exceed the total annual loss from hurricanes.

Scientists now see no way of preventing tornadoes because it takes them such a short time to develop nearby. Tornadoes appear to be born mature and do their damage almost at once. I, however, do believe that all loss of life from tornadoes can be prevented. The people in the tornado area can be notified in time with proper warnings. In other words, every community in the southern middle west should be protected with a tornado siren-alarm system. This cannot prevent the tornado or its accompanying property damage; but it can absolutely prevent loss of life. There is no excuse for the deaths and injury of so many people at Warren. The entire state of Arkansas could have been properly safeguarded against loss of life from tornadoes.

How To Detect Tornadoes

Every tornado has three features: (1) A very low barometer reading within a hot stagnant area, (2) a gradually increasing wind from five miles upwards to 300 to 500 miles per hour, (3) a dark colored column of rain, dirt and other material. The fire or police station in every southwestern community should always be on the watch for these three signals. Upon seeing them, they should, by radio, immediately notify all surrounding territories. As each community gets the word, it should ring in a Game-well siren alarm, which would give the proper warning to the inhabitants either to enter a cyclone cellar or to go out into the open and lie down. After the cloud has passed an all-out signal should be given. Perhaps the tornado will have done much property damage, but in no case need any person be killed or hurt.

We live in a wonderful country. It is rich in resources and opportunities. In this country, however, we are far too careless of human life. This applies to every community and in every department of life from needless auto accidents to needless fire losses. For reducing loss of life through automobile accidents, fires, etc., much has been done, but almost nothing has been done to prevent damage from hurricanes and tornadoes. This is the next step facing every city and town. Let us hope that everyone reading this column may realize the danger facing his community and insist that something be done to prevent it.

Around Hollywood

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21.—A noted mimic let it be known today that too many expensive hot-house mushrooms in Hollywood are turning out to be nothing but nasty toadstools at movie box offices around the nation.

Rubber-faced Arthur Blake, probably the greatest imitator of screen stars, charged that it is not the cost of baby sitters that's keeping film fans at home. It's faces that have been around too long.

Blake recently wound up a whirlwind cross-country tour of vaudeville houses and night clubs which gave him the lowdown on box office temperature of Hollywood stars.

He is convinced that right now most of the movie big wheels need smudge pots more than California's frost bitten orange groves.

Blake climbed upon a figurative soapbox and declaimed: "Hollywood producers should stand in theater lobbies and listen to what the great American public says about a lot of glamour gals and guys."

"Or the movie moguls ought to go on tour with me and see audiences sit on their hands when I start an impression of a star who has slipped harder than a fat man on a banana peel."

The Lamponer insists that Mae West, Katie Hepburn and Luise Rainer could do plenty to cure the fancy ulcers of picture producers.

Everytime Blake asks for requests from his audience, those three names pop up.

"Mae West's hips could still keep bankruptcy from the studio gates," he said. "Sure, the audience would consist mostly of bald-headed, middle-aged gents—but that's better than empty theaters."

Ingrid Is Tops

Ingrid Bergman is listed in Blake's little black book as one star who can't be hurt by a bad picture, commonly referred to in the trade as a "sinker." He used to kid Miss Bergman in his impersonations but her fans raised such a hub that he now does Bergman straight.

"Ingrid," he avowed, "is the sacred cow of Hollywood."

Blake currently is rehearsing a poisonous Greer Garson routine. "The girl really rates it," he said, "after her terrific performance in 'Julia Misbehaves'."

SAN FRANCISCO—First electric public utility company in the U. S. was believed to have been organized in San Francisco in 1878.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED
HARRISBURG—Members of the Pennsylvania Game Commission recently re-elected Ross L. Leffler, Pittsburgh, president; Robert Lam-berton, Franklin, vice-president, and Thomas D. Frye, Camp Hill, secretary. Mr. Frye succeeded Seth Gordon as executive director on September 1, 1948. In addition to serving in that capacity, Mr. Frye was elected to serve as secretary to the commission.

Buying Of Home Is Much Easier Than Before War

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Realtors Association today said the average worker should find it easier to buy a home now than before the war.

"The talk has been that houses are harder to buy now because they are so expensive but figures show that less time is required by the buyer to pay for his home than was needed 10 years ago," said president Oscar B. Quinto of Philadelphia.

Quinto claimed the housing shortage is not much worse than it was nine years ago "when virtually no comment was made about it." He said figures show that in 1940 there were 264 houses per 1,000 people, while in 1945, when demand for space almost was at its peak, there were 270 houses per 1,000 people.

Baby Donkey Named 'Margaret Truman'

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Highland Park zoo in Pittsburgh was mighty proud today of its "aristocratic Democrat".

She is a baby donkey born yesterday and appropriately named "Margaret Truman". Zoo officials let it be known that "Margaret" comes from a long line of distinguished Democrats. Her mother was presented to the zoo by Mayor David L. Lawrence, Democratic bigwig.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, infantile paralysis last year struck our nation with intense fury, taking savage toll of thousands of little children, and

WHEREAS, during the past six polio seasons more than 100,000 Americans have been stricken by this crippling disease, and

WHEREAS, the services of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and its 2,819 chapters were at hand to aid those stricken, and

WHEREAS, in so doing last summer the National Foundation exhausted its epidemic emergency aid fund, and

WHEREAS, the 1949 March of Dimes, provides the only means by which the National Foundation and its chapters may continue to fight infantile paralysis, by aiding those stricken, while financing research to find a preventive or cure, and

WHEREAS, infantile paralysis is certain to strike again next summer, and adequate resources must be available to meet its menace, THEREFORE, I, John F. Haven, Mayor of New Castle, do hereby appeal to each and every resident of New Castle to join zealously during the 1949 March of Dimes, in making it the most successful in local history.

Rev. J. C. Fulton Accepts Charges In Beaver County

Will Complete Nine Years Pastorate At Portersville And Mountville U. P. Churches

REV. J. C. FULTON

Rev. J. C. Fulton, pastor of the Portersville and Mountville U. P. churches for the past nine years, will complete his ministry at the Mountville church Sunday morning, January 23, and the Portersville church on January 30 prior to assuming his new duties as pastor of the Hanover and Mt. Pleasant U. P. churches in Beaver county.

Coming to the Lawrence and Butler county churches in 1940 from Plaingrove, where he served for six years, the congregation of the two churches have increased in size and in financial giving, it is reported. Prior to his Lawrence county ministry the departing pastor served for 15½ years as leader of the congregation of the Good-year Heights U. P. church in Akron, O.

His ministry at the Portersville and Mountville churches has been marked by spurred activity among the youth of the church. The young people have had a vital part in the services of the church under the leadership of Rev. Fulton, who was instrumental in organizing the Portersville Youth for Christ movement.

Rev. Fulton has two children, Robert, a sophomore at Bob Jones university in Greenville, S. C., and Ruth, a senior in the Portersville high school. For the present the family will retain residence in Portersville until Miss Fulton graduates from high school. Mrs. J. C. Fulton died during her husband's ministry at Portersville.

The new duties of Rev. Fulton will be assumed in the Beaver county churches on Sunday, February 6. He succeeds Rev. Van-inwegen, who has accepted the Camp Run and Zelenople charges of the U. P. church.

John R. Leslie Dies In California

Mrs. Frank D. Taylor, of Neshannock boulevard, has received word of the death of her brother-in-law, John R. Leslie, aged 58 years, of Dunsmuir, Calif.

He was the son of the late J. Harvey Leslie and Mary Russell Leslie, of North Beaver township. He leaves his wife; two children, Mrs. Keith Lennox, of Marysville, Calif., and Jock R. Leslie, of Dunsmuir; three grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Clarence Dyke, of Negley, O.; and a brother, Lester Leslie, of Pittsburgh.

WEED CONTROL COSTLY
HARRISBURG — Calling weed control a major "headache" for the vegetable grower, Professor W. H. Lachman of the University of Massachusetts told the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association at the State Farm Show last week that 30 per cent of the production costs go for this one operation. Formerly cultivation was the only control, but 2-4-D has changed the picture and stimulated wide interest in chemical control.

RAT CAMPAIGN BRINGS RESULTS

The rat population in Lawrence county declined rapidly on the night of December 22, according to the reports from farmers who took part in the recent campaign. One man reported that he found 25 dead rats after using only one pound of bait.

Other reports include a farmer who found one-half bushel of dead rats, another who saw six dead rats in one small room in a barn, and several who had seen daily rat damage, but who now find none. Credit for the success of the campaign belongs to all who helped in taking orders, mixing and delivering bait.

The use of poison baits is a partial means of control, and must be accompanied by several additional steps if control is to be complete. These include the rat-proofing of all buildings, the clean-up of all trash around buildings, and the elevation of lumber piles, stored feed, and other materials where rats find food and shelter.

The committee in charge of the rat control program plans to carry on another campaign next fall.

CLEAN SMOKEHOUSE TO PROTECT MEATS

Cleaning the smokehouse thoroughly as soon as the last meat is removed, and other places where meat has been stored, eliminates breeding places and helps control insects which menace home-cured meats. These pests feed, breed, and harbor on any form of animal product, such as grease, bits of meat, or cheese.

When weather is too cold for insect activity. Wrap each piece separately in a wax or grease-proof paper, making certain no insect life is on the meat when it is wrapped. Seal the paper folds and put the package in a closely woven cloth bag. Loop the top of the bag and tie tightly with a strong cord for hanging in storage. Store the meat in clean, tight, well-ventilated dark smoke-houses.

In the event meats or cheese become infested, remove them from the smokehouse or storeroom and cut out all infested parts. Uninfested portions are safe to eat and should be used promptly. Protect fresh-cut areas by greasing with salad oil or melted fat. Grease can be salvaged and insects killed by rendering cut-out portions. Insects or mites seldom infest meat or cheese stored at temperatures below 45 degrees F.

Francis Grice, co-partner in the Philadelphia shipyard that built the frigate Guerriere for the United States Navy, eventually became chief naval constructor for the United States Navy. In this capacity he designed and built many famous ships, some of them rendering outstanding performance. Grice also designed a memorable work boat, called the anchor boy, an unconventional type or craft and a useful one.

The name "singing sand" is given to certain sand beds which squeak when stirred, driven over or walked on.

Salary Raises Given Employees

Average Of $10 Per Month
Granted By Salary
Board—Departmental Heads To Apportion Them

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Increases of $10 per month were given to the employees of the court house offices Thursday afternoon by action of the salary board.

While the increases average $10 per month per employee, in some cases it will be more and in others less. Each departmental head is given the authority to divide the aggregate increase as he sees fit, although it will be $10 to each employee for the most part.

As an example, a departmental head who has ten people working for him will be granted $100 per month increase for his office. In some cases an employee will be given $15 per month while another will get but $5. This in cases one employee has long seniority and is a valuable employee while the other might be a newcomer with not much service behind him.

It is estimated the increase will mean about $13,000 addition to the yearly payroll. In addition to the increase the employees get 14 days vacation after one year's service. Under the Act of 1947 the employees get seven days sick leave per year, which is accumulative for not more than three years.

MASS MEETING FEBRUARY 3

Indications are the mass meeting on February 3 will see court room No. 1 filled. Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst will speak on Soil Conservation and explain the plan now in use in some counties of the state. His deputy, W. S. Hagar, will also be present.

Many farmers have expressed an interest in the subject and would like to know if the soil conservation plan duplicates the work of the Farm Extension Bureau. Questions will be answered at the meeting.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

When To Answer Children's Questions About Sex?

A month or so ago a letter from a Boston mother posed a question that concerns many parents. In her neighborhood, most of the mothers feel it is a shocking thing to answer children's questions about sex. When their children ask where babies come from or what the difference is between boys and girls they tell them they're not old enough to talk about such things.

The letter, signed, "Conscientious Mother" asks: "At what age do you feel children asking these questions should be answered truthfully?"

The evidence seems unmistakably clear. One should be direct and honest in answering any questions children ask. If they are put off or are told some fairy story, their curiosity becomes sharpened and they seek answers elsewhere.

The best place for children to learn "the facts of life" is in the home and the best time is whenever they ask questions.

Even three-year-olds can understand some of these things on a simple level. If parents' own education has been lacking in this respect and they don't know what to say, there are good books that give practical help. Any public library should be able to refer an interested parent to several helpful volumes.

Auto Frames Workers End Nine-Day Strike

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Production of automobile frames at the Midland Steel Products Co. began today following the end of a nine-day strike which seriously threatened automobile production.

The 1,800 employees, members of the CIO-United Automobile Workers, walked out after two union leaders were discharged.

The men said they were discharged because they protested against plant safety conditions.

The company, which manufactures automobile frames for most of the nation's car manufacturers, agreed to withdraw the discharge and substitute a two-week suspension.

DETROIT—More than 2,200 different makes of automobiles have been manufactured in the U. S. since the birth of the industry.

PMA Seeks Further Motor Legislation

Recommends Re-Examination Of Drivers Involved In Two Crashes With Damages Over $50

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Re-examination of drivers involved in two accidents resulting in damages exceeding $50 was proposed in the legislative program of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

The recommendation was made following a report of the PMA Safety Committee, headed by J. T. Haviland, of Philadelphia.

Television sets in motor vehicles which could distract drivers from responsibilities also were opposed by the PMA.

The legislative committee, headed by Sen. O. J. Tallman (R) Lehigh, endorsed Col. C. M. Wilhelm's plea to add 400 troopers to the 1,600-man force authorized by law and suggested more policemen be assigned to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The "excellent" records of School Safety Patrols prompted the PMA to endorse use of patrolmen on school buses.

Approval was given to use of one license tag only if State Police withdrew objections to the single plate.

Rigid, but undefined, requirements for school bus operators were called for by the PMA.

Legislation authorizing the licensing of commercial schools for adult driver training was suggested by the PMA.

The organization also approved the financial responsibility law for motorists, slated to become effective July 1, but proposed an amendment to make it mandatory to report only accidents involving more than $100.

Vote Down Bill Outlawing Klan

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Members of the Ku Klux Klan hailed today the action of the Georgia house of representatives which voted down a bill to outlaw the group after a two-hour debate.

The measure, which would have prohibited the wearing of masks in public, was killed by a vote of 89 to 65 on a motion to postpone action indefinitely.

During the heated discussion the Klan was defended by one legislator as a defense "against communism".

HOW TO GIVE A COCKTAIL PARTY

"I am going to give a cocktail party and wondered what to serve whether the food should be served in the living room or dining room—how it should be served—what time the party should take place. My husband and I do not smoke. Should we serve cigarettes or do guests bring their own?"

Answer: Give your cocktail party in the afternoon between 4 and 7 o'clock, although I must warn you that these parties seldom terminate at the appointed time.

Serve small sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres, pretzels, salted nuts. Have these on a table conveniently located in the living room or dining room. Pass these around to your guests, periodically, during your party. This service may be taken care of by a member of your family or a friend who is assisting you to give the party.

Let me warn you to serve very weak cocktails, as guests usually come back for more. Also have a non-alcoholic beverage for any guests who do not drink cocktails. Even though you and your husband do not smoke, you should have a tray or a box of cigarettes for your guests.

Question: Should a woman wear her hat to the dining car in a train?

Answer: On a journey of a few hours' duration, she should keep her hat on. If she is "living" on the train for a few days, she should remove her hat on her arrival and not put it on again until she leaves, in which case she should, of course, not wear a hat to the dining car.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

New York Judge Boosts Allowance

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Mrs. Alma Dupuy of New York City, estranged wife of a Pittsburgh steel heir, today had her monthly support payments increased to $550.

Mrs. Dupuy had complained that the $616 she was to receive from one of her husband's trust funds had dwindled to $480.

In ordering the increase, Judge John P. Egan refused a petition for back payments and criticized the socialite for using money paid her by her estranged husband to pay for insurance which names her mother as beneficiary.

RELIEF ROLLS RISE

HARRISBURG—The beginning of the new year found Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls continuing their seasonal rise. During the week ending January 1, a net total of 307 cases (1,045 persons) was added to the rolls. This was the 12th consecutive weekly increase and brought the total general assistance case load up to 28,210 cases containing 45,824 persons.

Son Is Born To Famous Model

The boy, born last night, is the Conovers' second child. They have a daughter. Candy is executive director of the Conover Career Girl school.

DOLLED UP

DES MOINES, Ia.—The city council has ordered three dozen pairs of white suede cloth gloves for downtown police to "add a little class to the force." Safety Commissioner Myron Bennett said the gloves will be "neater, natter and easier to see."

REMOVE FAT

To remove the fat from hot soup, pour the soup through a cloth that has been rinsed in very cold water. Most of the fat will remain in the cloth.

STUFFED OLIVE SANDWICHES

For each sandwich cut three slices of bread. You can combine white and whole or cracked wheat bread. Spread the first slice with soft cheese and the second slice with chopped stuffed olives moistened with mayonnaise. Put the third slice on top and wrap in waxpaper. Place in refrigerator to chill. Slice just before serving.

It takes about seven hours for a ship to pass through the Panama canal locks.

Coal Men Hope
For New Mining
Machines In Future

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21—(INS)—Coal men in Western Pennsylvania are beginning to think—and hope—the new type of "continuous" mining machines may revolutionize the coal industry in much the same way the Bessemer converter changed steel production. It's a case of one machine—the continuous type—combining the operations which previously required three or four machines. And, of course, it's going to eliminate a lot of coal miners.

With a continuous mining machine, for instance, the complications of undercutting the coal, drilling blast holes and then blasting are included in one process.

Nor will it be necessary to mine coal by rooms, which extends operations over a large area underground and causes many maintenance problems.

Since blasting practically is eliminated, the cost of explosives goes with it. Although it will take time before the continuous mining process comes into its own, the mine owners are looking forward to a bonanza.

COINED WORD

The word "telephone" was coined by Sir Charles Wheatstone, physicist of Kings College, London, after studying methods of transmitting sound in 1821.

OYSTER ODDITY

A curious relative of the pearl oyster, the hammerhead oyster, is found in the Indian ocean. It gets its name from its hammer-like shape.

Gives Details For Bill For Boosting Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Rep. Lesinski (D) Mich., announced details today of an administration bill to boost the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour and extend coverage to thousands of additional workers.

The chairman of the House Labor Committee is expected to press for House passage possibility next week to make the measure the first of President Truman's program to obtain congressional approval.

The most far-reaching change contained in the draft prepared by Lesinski is one which would bring any retail establishment doing over $500,000 business annually under the terms of the minimum wage and hour legislation.

In the past, large department stores and similar retail establishments have been exempt. The bill also would amend the original 1938 statute to provide coverage not only for industries engaged in interstate commerce but also those "in activities affecting commerce."

It would confer broader powers on the Secretary of Labor including many of those now exercised by the wage-hour administrator. The secretary will be empowered to define policy and regulations of the act on his own initiative.

Local Class Of Dale Carnegie To Have Graduation

This evening the local Dale Carnegie class, of January, 1949, will have commencement exercises at the Foster Memorial hall, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The local class will compete with two other Dale Carnegie classes. Fred Hasset has been selected to give the impromptu speech, with Frank Cozza to be alternate.

Frank McGrew is to give the prepared speech and Michael Audia is to be alternate. Joseph Cozza will speak on "What I Achieved From the Dale Carnegie Course." Jack Boles is the alternate.

The chartered will leave from the Hotel New Penn at 6 o'clock this evening for the members and guests.

On Saturday, January 29, the graduating dinner for the local class will be held at the Sylvan Heights Country Club.

Stolen Jewelry Partially Insured

Delbert Johnston, proprietor of the East North street jewelry store burglarized early Thursday morning, reported today that his check so far as made of stolen jewelry shows a loss of $2,500. The value of a considerable number of Elgin and Hamilton watches is not included in this. Mr. Johnston said that the jewelry was only partially and not fully insured.

MOLNER TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Jerry Molner, 42, of Mercer R.D. 6, has been taken into custody by state police and will be charged with burglary, they say, as the result of he and the late Donald B. Smith having entered the Charles Wellendorf home, Union township, R.D. 2, and to have stolen a rifle, pistol barrel of wine and 12 pairs of socks one week ago Wednesday night.

Molner is said to have admitted his guilt. The revolver was the one used by Smith in the holdup of Druggist Wayne Albee in Cleveland, police say. The rifle has been recovered by the police, and they know who bought the wine and some of the socks, they report.

DETECTIVE IN HOSPITAL
City Detective Thomas Lynch is confined to the New Castle hospital with double pneumonia, but is getting along as well as can be expected.

Girl Found Dead Of Rifle Bullet

LOWER MERION, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Lower Merion police today were investigating the fatal shooting of Miss Sheila P. Sangmeister, 23, daughter of a prominent Philadelphia obstetrician.

Detectives said the girl was found shot to death in the bedroom of her Pen Valley home, a new hunting rifle beside her. She was discovered by her mother, who said she heard a shot.

Police disclosed that Miss Sangmeister purchased the rifle yesterday at a Philadelphia store, unknown to her family. Her parents declared she had been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP MEETING IS HELD

Devotions were led by Earl Sulmonetti and Emma Pearl Wednesday evening when the Youth Fellowship met in Christ Methodist church. Plans were made to start the Sunday evening meetings at 6 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock, starting January 30.

Christine Caravaggio, who directed games, also served lunch. Mary Metta will be hostess at a Valentine social February 16, in the church.

Vickie Evans III, Asks Deferment Of Extradition

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Dancer Vicki Evans, 25, was reported stricken with pneumonia and through counsel asked deferment today of her extradition to Los Angeles as co-defendant in the Robert Mitchum narcotics case.

Attorney Martin Benjamin produced in felony court a doctor's certificate, attesting to the dancer's illness in her room at the Hotel Sutton.

As a precautionary measure, Magistrate Morris Rothenberg assigned Dr. Perry M. Lichtenstein of the district attorney's staff to call on Miss Evans and report to court at 2 p. m.

Attorney Benjamin further said that when she recovers, Miss

Evans will be happy to go to Los Angeles and at her own expense. Assistant District Attorney Paul Reilly objected, pointing out that Gov. Dewey has signed an extradition warrant, and Los Angeles has sent Policewoman Marjorie K. Jones to New York to take her back.

Decision on the motion was reserved, pending a full medical report on the health of the platinum-haired dancer.

There are 35 locks on the Erie branch of the New York state barge canal; 11 on the Champlain, seven on the Oswego, and four on the Cayuga and Seneca. This canal is a system of waterways in the state of New York, based on the improvement and enlargement of four previously existing canals—the Erie, Champlain, Oswego, Cayuga and Seneca canals.

Loyalty Day Is Observed

W.C.T.U. Members Hear Grove City Pastor At Annual Luncheon
Event

MEETING HELD AT EPWORTH CHURCH

Stirring was the talk given by Dr. H. B. Henderson, pastor of Grove City U. P. church, Thursday afternoon at the Loyalty Day luncheon in Epworth Methodist church. Those attending included members of the various Women's Christian Temperance Unions in Lawrence county.

The speaker told of the national temperance movement's meeting in Minneapolis, Minn., where "The Alcohol Crisis" was discussed. Points of discussion of the organization, which includes Canada and the United States, follow: 1. difficulty to enact any action to do any good by the government from the city to Washington, D. C.; 2. influence of money spent for advertising, especially for liquor; 3. churches are being misled; 4. failure of positive testimony, need more preaching about temperance; and 5. tremendous pressure put on boys and girls to drink.

Dr. Henderson also cited that the drinking of alcoholic beverages has been a large factor in the nations that have declined.
We need to have temperance pledges, consistency in our lives, and real people. Some think drinking is a sign of sophistication. There is a need to make men and women see the bigness of folks.

Dunlap Speaks

Jack M. Dunlap, chief probation officer of Lawrence county, who also spoke, said that too many people are trying to carry water on both shoulders. One may not be master-of-ceremonies at a night club Saturday night and teach a Bible class Sunday morning. A religious awakening in America is the only answer to our present problems. Mr. Dunlap read headlines from newspapers showing the effect of alcohol upon our lives.

Music Program

Mrs. Clark McClelland, accompanied by Mrs. S. Glenn Mc-Cracken, pleased with three vocal solos, "I Heard a Forest Praying", Peter De Rose, "Goodly Things", and "The Watchmaker's Shop", both by Morrison. Mrs. C. R.
Campbell served as director of music, while Mrs. F. P. Sulmonetti was accompanist for singing by the group.

Luncheon Enjoyed

Mrs. F. J. Fox, president of Lawrence county W. C. T. U., presided at the meeting, which was preceded by the serving of a tasty luncheon by Epworth guild of the host church, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Sheffer. Red carnations, white snapdragons, smilax and white tapers were used in decoration. Rev. Albert C. Howe, pastor of Epworth church, offered grace and also pronounced the benediction. Mrs. Fred Beck was responsible for decorations, while Miss Laura Strickler was in charge of reservations. Mrs. Harry L. McCurdy had a display of temperance literature, including various kinds of material.

Honored Guests

In addition to the speakers and musicians, Rev. and Mrs. Howe,
Rev. Cyril A. Smith, City Rescue
Mission; Mrs. Dunlap, Leroy K.
Donaldson, district attorney of Lawrence county; his mother, Mrs.
T. W. Donaldson, and Rev. F. P.
Sulmonetti, Christ Methodist church, were honored guests at the assembly.

GENEVA PLANS FIRST MID-YEAR GRADUATION EXERCISES AT SCHOOL

BEAVER FALLS, Jan. 21. — Geneva College, Thursday announced that it plans to hold its first mid-winter commencement exercises in the school's 101 year history. Thirty-eight seniors are expected to receive bachelor degrees in the college chapel on Friday evening, January 28.

The graduation was planned after a poll of January seniors revealed a desire for the mid-year ceremonies. In other years, members of the January class were invited to return in June to partici-

Other Holdups Are Charged To Youth

Police report that the body of Donald B. Smith, 19, was identified here by Ray Schrader, Dairy Bar operator of Youngstown, as that of the man who shot and wounded him during a hold-up in Youngstown, January 11. Schrader was accompanied here by detectives from Youngstown. Schrader sustained a flesh wound.

J. Norman Smith, Croton avenue confectioner, also identified the body as that of the man who robbed his cash register of $48, January 6.

Smith was fatally wounded in an exchange of shots when he held up Wayne Albee, a Cleveland druggist a week ago Thursday.

Dr. Galbreath Is Speaker At N.S.A.

'Guest Night' Is Featured At January Dinner-Meeting Held Downtown

New Castle Chapter of National Secretaries Association featured their "guest night" at the Thursday evening dinner meeting held in a local dining room, and on this occasion also heard as guest speaker, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

The full course dinner was enjoyed at 6:30 o'clock by candlelight. Clever cotton snowmen centered the tables as gay decorations and tall white candles flanked either side of the tables. Grace was repeated by the members and guests.

Program chairman Dorothy Latshaw announced future programs and presented Olive Webb of the public affairs committee in charge of last evening's program. Miss Webb introduced Dr. R. F. Galbreath whose subject was entitled, "What Kind of An America Will the Next Generation Have?"

Using the leaning tower of Pisa as an illustration, Dr. Galbreath pointed out how a faulty foundation may be the cause of the destruction of a great work. In comparison he cited that the Constitution of the United States, one of the greatest and strongest proof of our country's strength, can become weakened unless the generation of today awakens to the need of the hour, and continue courageous living of our forefathers, and prepare ourselves by our own efforts for the future.

Tragedy Of Human Nature
The tragedy of human nature, said Dr. Galbreath is to be driven by fears—fear of old age, the fear of want. Basically human nature doesn't change. The same desires motivate every generation. But he warned make our foundation strong, for America is the hope of the world. No other nation has our potentialities. The United States was founded on courage, confidence and love of independence—and it must continue so.

President Miss Florence Davis presided during the business meeting which followed. The three fold purpose of the N. S. A.: professional, education and social was outlined for the benefit of the guests.

Reports were heard from the various chairmen. At Christmas time baskets of food and toys were distributed to the needy. Plans were read of the future state meeting and national convention, and of the local style show planned by the chapter. Proceeds of the latter event will be used to start a scholarship fund. Miss Davis explained the purpose of the organization is primarily for the ideal improvement of the secretarial profession.

The February 18 meeting will be a "backwards" party at the home of Miss Virginia Jacobucci, 1012 Summit street.

HAROLD STEWART LEAVES FOR ARMY
Harold (Beaver) Stewart, 1312 Croton avenue, left Thursday evening for Fort Knox, Ky., where he will begin three years of service in the army. Having reached his 18th birthday, he enlisted in the service on Tuesday.

A farewell dinner was given in his honor at his home with 13 guests present for the affair. Harold was presented with a purse of money. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stewart and has been employed with the Asplundh Tree company.

The Great Lakes contain more than one-half of the fresh water of the entire globe.

Mission Board Has Annual Meeting

Officers Re-Elected, Financial Activity And Other Reports Presented Thursday

Annual meeting of the board of directors of the City Rescue Mission, 17 South Mercer street, took place on Thursday evening at the mission with the superintendent, Rev. Cyril A. Smith, in charge.

During the evening, reports of the work were made including financial status, clothing and furniture given, calls made and attendances.

The following officers were re-elected: president, Howard M. Kirk, Jr.; first vice president, V. O. Potter; second vice president, Wyatt R. Campbell; secretary, Austin A. Webb; treasurer, S. A. Mooney. Other members include: Dr. James Blackwood, A. W. Bauman, Carl Bender, Leroy Donaldson, Walter Hindman, Martin Hornung, Claude Humble, A. L. Johnson and Frank Wimer.

The following is the superintendent's report: free beds, 690; free meals, 1,242; articles of clothing, 2,858; articles of furniture, 71; visits to homes, 246; professing conversion, 54; attendance at meetings, 2,901; attendance at Sunday school, 1,589.

Superintendent Smith reported that on March 31 the Niagara district of the International Union of Gospel Missions will meet at the local mission for a one-day conference. The district embraces western Pennsylvania, western New York and a portion of Canada.

Disappearance Of Steelworker Is Being Investigated

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Allegheny County detectives today were investigating the case of a missing Duquesne, Pa., steelworker who may have fallen or become entangled in an ore bucket and dumped into a blast furnace.

Patrick C. Landrino, 36, was reported missing during the 4 to 12 p. m. shift Wednesday at the Rankin unit of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp.

A coroner's report claimed a post office money order receipt, belonging to Landrino, and a piece of leather jacket were found in a furnace flue trap.

Richard Ritchart, Landrino's brother-in-law, said a partially burned picture of Landrino and his wife, Hilda, also was found. The Landrinos have six children. Five are from Mrs. Landrino's previous marriage. The sixth is a seven-week-old baby.

Eating Places To Face Prosecution

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The state agriculture department today reported that 75 eating establishments including 34 school cafeterias in Pennsylvania are being prosecuted for violation of the state's oleomargarine law.

The bureau of foods and chemistry reported that the violations involved restaurants, hotels and boarding houses serving oleo without a state license serving colored oleo, or were serving it without notice on menus. The violations were uncovered during a "spot check" of 300 public eating places, the bureau explained.

Officials pointed out that of those surveyed, approximately 125 were using butter exclusively. Another hundred were found to be violating the law "to a lesser degree than those to be prosecuted and were not coloring the product." Each of the latter was sent a warning.

Recession To Stay Just Around Corner

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Federal Reserve bank of Philadelphia predicted today that a business bust "will stay just around the corner" this year.

In a lengthy business review the FRB reported:

"Prices, on the average, are likely to move sideways. But there will be many ups and downs in individual lines, and soft spots will show up more frequently."

"The relationship between money and goods is likely to be better balanced than it has been for several years."

The Federal Reserve review pointed out that "inflationary forces are still present", but it added:

"Neither boom nor slump is 'inevitable' unless we make the error of relaxing, thinking that stability can be achieved without effort."

The FRB said that recession has been "just around the corner" for the past three years but has never come.

The review characterized 1947 as "the year of the slump that never came" and said that 1948 was "generally a year of slowing down."

"But this alone," the FRB said, "is not conclusive evidence that recession is coming in 1949."

Reuther To Battle For Pension Fund

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 21.—(INS)—President Walter Reuther pledged his CIO-United Auto Workers today to a battle for a $100-a-month pension as a basic demand for their 1949 contract negotiations.

The red-headed union chief also told the UAW's National Education Conference at Milwaukee that the Taft-Hartley act restrictions on union shops should be converted into federal enforcement of a union shop.

Reuther asserted the pension provision and other proposals were "reasonable demands which the corporations can meet." He added that a $1 a member assessment has been authorized to back them up.

UAW spokesmen estimated the special assessment would build up a three-quarter million dollar fund.

CLUB MEETING

Members of the Women's club met Thursday afternoon in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

Routine business was conducted by Miss Nellie Grinnen, president. An interesting program was presented, as follows: quartet selections, DeWayne Kanagy, Nick Cook, Jack Butler and Jack McMillin; piano selections, Miss Joan McNab, and movie slides were shown by Prog. I. V. Holmes. The program was in charge of Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. L. J. Overlander and Mrs. Maud Glover.

W. S. C. S. DINNER

Assembling in the church Wednesday, members and friends of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church enjoyed an old-fashioned Ladies' Aid party.

At noon a delicious tureen dinner was served, with covers arranged for 40.

During the afternoon a parcel post sale and social chat were enjoyed.

To Start Hearings On Taft-Hartley Law Revamping

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Sen. Elbert Thomas (D) Utah, announced today that the Senate Labor Committee expects to open hearings late next week on repealing or revamping the Taft-Hartley Act.

Thomas, committee chairman, predicted after a closed-door meeting of the group that hearings can be completed in six weeks.

At the same time, he forecast that the promised effort of Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., to send a Taft-Hartley repeal bill to the floor without hearings "definitely will be voted down."

Still Communists In State Department Declares Sen. Mundt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Sen. Mundt (R) S. D. declared today that there still are communists in the State Department and accused leaders in the Democratic-Controlled House of wanting "to sit on the lid" of its un-American Activities Committee.

Mundt said he will demand that the Senate investigating subcommittee take up the trail of communists in the government if the House group fails to keep up the chase under Democratic control.

The South Dakotan is a former member of the House un-American Activities Committee and as a senator was assigned to the Senate subcommittee.

Many Jobs Open For College Grads, Says Service Head

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—There still is plenty of room in the employment market for college graduates, according to George N. P. Leetch, director of the Pennsylvania State College's Replacement Service.

Although the number of college men and women is rapidly increasing, Leetch says that opportunities for them also are increasing. Each year more and more employers are looking among college graduates for qualified men and women.

He cites as an outstanding example the increasing number of employers in the merchandising field who are looking for college men to fill managerial positions.

Leetch says that the demand for Penn State graduates this year is about the same as it was a year ago. Some industries are requiring

Turkey Growing Big Industry In State

HARRISBURG.—Only in its infancy, turkey growing is a 250-million dollar industry, Harold W. Esrey, of Spar Hill Farm, Chadds Ford, reported at the Pennsylvania Farm Show meeting of the Pennsylvania State Poultry Federation last week.

Pedigree breeding of broad breasted bronze turkeys in Pennsylvania also is in its infancy, Esrey said.

Esrey emphasized that turkeys must have good "sales appeal" after they are dressed. Selection must be made on market quality and conformation.

Youth Rally At Portersville

The Portersville Youth for Christ will hold its regular meeting in the Portersville United Presbyterian church on Saturday evening, January 22, at 8 p.m. Walter Bauder, the director of the group, will be in charge.

Special speaker of the evening will be Rev. Melvin Casterdale, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Rochester, Pa.

Rev. J. C. Fulton will lead the singing. Special music will also be provided.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Lawyer John Marshall once argued a case before a judge who was a close personal friend, but so determined not to allow this to influence him, that he actually fined Marshall $25 for contempt of court. Taken aback for a moment, Marshall rallied quickly and said, "Unfortunately, I haven't $25 with me. Will His Honor lend me the amount please?"

The judge, already regretting his quick temper cleared his throat and declared, "The fine is remitted. The United States government can spare $25 better than I can!"

"What do you keep in that lovely vase on the mantel?" asked Mrs. Treeger.

"My husband's ashes," answered Mrs. Ullman.

"Forgive me," gasped Mrs. Treeger. "I didn't know he was dead."

"He's far from dead," explained Mrs. Ullman. "He's simply too lazy to look for an ash tray."

MOTORISTS REMINDED

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Motorists were warned today that they have little more than two weeks to meet two deadlines.

The Pittsburgh Automobile Club reminded motorists that they must have their cars inspected and secure their 1949 drivers' license by January 31.

More Seed Potatoes Available This Year

HARRISBURG.—Pennsylvania potato growers will have a larger supply of seed potatoes available this year than in any previous year. K. W. Lauer, in charge of seed certification, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, said at the farm show meeting of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association last week.

Pennsylvania certified seed potato growers produced the largest crop of seed ever grown in the state in 1948.

More potatoes come from Maine into Pennsylvania than from any other single source. The supply from Maine is slightly above a million bushels more than a year ago. Lauer urged early ordering because of the new marketing agreement which will place on the table stock market a large volume of potatoes that formerly went into seed channels.

Altoona Will Mark Centennial In 1949

HARRISBURG.—Marking 100 years of community progress, Altoona will hold its centennial celebration August 7 through 14, says the State Department of Commerce vacation and recreation bureau.

Founded in 1849 by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Altoona was the base of operations for the pioneer work of the building the first railroad over the Allegheny Mountains. Recognized as a "railroad city", Altoona and the immediate surrounding area is divided between industrial and agricultural activities, the largest car and wheel foundry in the world, situated at South Altoona, produces locomotives, passenger and freight cars. Of late years the addition of diversified industries has added to the community's welfare.

West Virginia Too Has "Deer Problem"

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Pennsylvania isn't the only state that has its "deer problem." Take a look at West Virginia.

Director C. F. McClintic said West Virginia Conservation commission is considering a buck and doe season in 1949. This brought a storm of protests from sportsmen and several sportsmen's organizations.

In a recent letter published in the Charleston Gazette, one sportsman's club said that "We are for keeping the season closed on does and spike bucks," in 1949. They denied reports that the deer herds were too large and starve during the winter. They explained:

"We have covered hundreds of acres, hunting bear and deer and have not found a single deer that has died of starvation. A doe season would set West Virginia back about ten years."

They added it would be "dangerous to go into the woods" during a doe season, claiming hunters "would shoot at anything that moves in the woods," and "see what they hit later... many hunters would be killed or crippled."

The club suggested trapping deer and "transplanting" them to sections less populated.

Would Reduce Herd

However, another source maintained that a season that would permit the killing of only large does would probably serve two purposes. It would eliminate many of the old barren does that are eating food which should be for their offsprings, and it would reduce the herd to correspond with the available food supply.

Some Pennsylvania hunters also refuse to recognize the necessity of a doe season, according to the Game commission.

Pennsylvania has an estimated one million deer—which the commission said is "far too many to assure enough feeding of natural game food."

Feeding Problem

Some believe that feeding the deer corn would relieve pressure, while others claim deer later would want nothing but corn and would ruin farmers' crops to get it. Result of this would be tame deer, they said.

A Game commission spokesman said a herd of 250,000 deer "is about the size this state is capable of feeding."

HUNTING SEASON DATES

HARRISBURG—The Pennsylvania Game commission, at its meeting on January 6, 1949, decided that the small game season for 1949 will open on Tuesday, November 1, and the deer season will open on Monday, November 28. This action was taken in cooperation with many sportsmen who desire to plan their vacations far in advance and be assured that they can be arranged. No decision was reached on the opening date for the bear season, which will be announced later because the Commission desired to give the sportsmen more time for the crystallization of their wishes.

JOE FULKS SETS SCORING RECORD

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Joe Fulks, Philadelphia Warriors' forward, broke his own Arena scoring record last night to lead the Warriors to a 92-72 victory over the Chicago Stags.

Fulks totaled 38 points in the Basketball Association of America game—bettering his own Arena floor record of 37 points. He scored with 13 field goals and 12 fouls.

Pirates Against Televising Games

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates baseball games at Forbes field will not be televised this year.

General Manager Roy Hamey today issued a statement intended to "correct a public impression that games this year are to be televised."

"Although it is our policy to give the fans everything pertaining to baseball," Hamey said, "it is our present thought that, in the matter of television, the most advisable course (for) 1949 would be to mark time."

Hamey added that television "has its future in baseball" but at present "is so largely experimental" that the fans would be served best by waiting for "satisfactory transmission of a sport so rich in scientific detail."

PITT QUINTET

STARTING TRIP

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The University of Pittsburgh basketball team leaves tonight for Peoria, Ill., to meet Bradley Tech Saturday night in the first game of a long trip to the west coast and back.

Pitt is riding the crest of a six-game winning streak and has a season record of 9 and 3. Also to be played on the trip are Denver University, Utah, California, Stanford, Loyola of Los Angeles, UCLA and Arizona.

The Panthers will return to Pittsburgh Feb. 3.

PAYNE BEATS SHEPPARD

Rusty Payne defeated Curtis Sheppard in a 10-round fight held in New York City Wednesday night. Payne stopped Sheppard in their first fight, which was at Pittsburgh.

UMPIRES TO MEET

There is a meeting of the Lawrence County Umpires Association at the "Y" tonight at 8 o'clock. Plans for the banquet will be discussed.

New Castle Will Play Farrel Steelers Here Tonight

First Victory In Section Aim

Both New Castle And Farrell Have Failed To Win Sectional Tilt So Far

New Castle High basketball team will try tonight to snap the Section Three losing streak that has followed them since the opening of the circuit. The Farrell High Steelers will be the opponents at the Washington High floor. The preliminary will start at 7 o'clock.

Farrell, like New Castle, has not yet broken the ice in the circuit, and have dropped four straight. A comparison can be drawn from the Aliquippa Indians game with both New Castle and Farrell, the Indians trimmed the locals here 43 to 33, and last Tuesday whipped Farrell at Farrell 42 to 35. Beaver Falls defeated Farrell 43 to 35, and also trimmed New Castle 47 to 33. It should be an interesting game tonight.

Not Many Holdovers

New Castle and Farrell split a pair of games last year—New Castle winning 56 to 54 at Farrell, and losing 58 to 48 at home.

Farrell has but one man this year who faced New Castle last season: Joey Delise, who is one of the main cogs this year. Young Don Reed and Cialella are the New Castle players who faced Farrell last year.

The George Thomas-coached team is bound to get going soon, and it could be tonight. New Castle won six and lost three in the pre-league card, but have found the going tough in Section Three.

New Castle will play at Ellwood City next Tuesday, and will not be home again after tonight until February 4 when Beaver Falls will play here. New Castle goes to Ambridge on February 1st.

Sportsmen's Council To Elect Officers

Lawrence County Council of Sportsmen will hold their annual election of officers tonight at the Ellwood-Wampum Rod and Gun club.

All clubs that are members of the council are urged to take part in the elections and be the guests of the Ellwood organization.

Ewell Blackwell Operated Upon

Cincinnati Pitching Star Operated On For Kidney Ailment, Doctor Reports

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 21.—(INS)—The physician for the Cincinnati Reds announced today that right-hand pitcher ace Ewell "Blackie" Blackwell was operated on last night for a kidney ailment.

Dr. Reed Shank of the Reds said Dr. A. G. Barnes, the surgeon at the Glendale, Calif., sanatorium, performed the west coast operation.

Will Miss Training

Shank quoted Barnes as saying Blackwell would be delayed in reporting for spring training March 1 at Tampa, Fla., but that the pitcher eventually would make it.

Barnes told Shank that Blackwell suffered an attack on Wednesday and that the kidney was found to be almost completely rotted away.

Resting Comfortably

GLENDAL, Cal., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Ewell Blackwell, ace hurler for the Cincinnati Reds, was resting comfortably at Glendale Sanatorium today following an operation for removal of a kidney.

Dr. C. Leroy Turner, one of the operating physicians, said Blackwell "came through fine" and should report to training camp in about six weeks.

St. Margarets Team To Meet

All members of the 1948 St. Margaret's baseball team are to meet tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the St. Margaret's Hall. It was announced by Gene Melchiorre. This is a special session and all members should make it a point to be in attendance.

Testimonial For McPeak Carded Here February 12

Paul Brown And Mike Milligan Probable Speakers At Dinner For Pitt Star

A desire to honor Bill McPeak, New Castle youth who has made good in a big way in the world of football, has prompted a group of civic-minded, sport-loving townsmen to plan a testimonial dinner in honor of the former Pitt end.

The status of the testimonial, which has been long smoldering in the minds of local football fans, emerged as a definite reality from a committee meeting last night at The Castleton.

William A. Semler and County Commissioner Joseph F. Travers have been appointed co-chairman for the event which will be held Saturday night, February 12, at The Castleton. Len Gilbert is chairman of the ticket sales and City Treasurer Bernie Hanlon will serve as treasurer for the sponsoring group.

Tickets Limited

It is expected that the principal speakers for the testimonial will be Mike Milligan, head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, where McPeak distinguished himself as varsity end for four years, and Paul Brown, head coach of the champion Cleveland Browns professional team with whom Bill recently signed a contract.

Ticket sales will be limited to 200 and chairman Len Gilbert will announce in a few days the locations where duets may be purchased.

Rojeck Asking $18,000 Salary

Star Pirate Shortstop Rejects Salary Offer Of Around $15,000 For 1949

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Shortstop Stan Rojeck today became the Pittsburgh Pirates' first holdout of the 1949 season.

Rojeck, who was paid around $11,000 last year, is reported to have rejected a Pirate contract in the neighborhood of $15,000. He reportedly is holding out for something like $18,000.

"I am not a holdout," Rojeck declared at his home in North Tonawanda, N. Y. "But I believe my performance last year is worth more than was offered me."

Buc general manager Roy Hamey said he feels sure "an agreement can be reached."

OKLAHOMA AGGIES DEFEAT ST. LOUIS

Sixteen Straight Win Streak Broken In 29 To 27 Overtime Game Thursday

STILLWATER, Okla., Jan. 21.—(INS)—The St. Louis Billikens had only four words to say today: "We were honestly beaten."

But that summation by St. Louis Coach Eddie Hickey could not wipe out the 29-to-27 defeat by the Oklahoma Aggie basketball team last night in an overtime game.

'Control Game'

The Aggies' "control" game paid off for the Stillwater Cowboys in one of the lowest-scoring contests in modern basketball history. It was the first defeat for St. Louis after 16 straight victories, 11 of them this season.

Only four teams—Minnesota, Western Kentucky, Villanova and Hamline—thus remain unbeaten throughout the nation.

Jack Hopes To Beat Higgins

Veteran Oozes Confidence As Trains For Bout With Youthful Foe

Having fought 327 times during a score years, Jack Biddle, local middleweight, owner of one of the most dynamic left hooks in the game, and courage never doubted, hopes to set back Chuck Higgins, Campbell's rising 160-pounder in The Arena Monday night.

Insofar as experience is concerned, Biddle has it all over Chuck. However, Higgins is said to be smart, and a good puncher, as his kayo wins over Mike Berkovich of Niles and Larry Huff of Pittsburgh show.

It is true he caught Mike on the Taboggan trail, but not so Larry, who, in one of his fights appeared in The Arena, later boxing in Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh.

It is a fight between a veteran and a youngster, and in most affairs of this kind, youth is served.

The one recent upset however was when Steve Belloise polished off Villamain of France.

Russ Attempts Come-back

According to intimates, Biddle intends to wage an aggressive battle. No doubt the youthful Higgins will meet him at his own game, and if this happens there should be a swell Evening's Evening.

Bearcat Jones of Pittsburgh will box Billy Pozza of Ellwood City, in a heavyweight match. Tommy Leach says Jones is a good boy, having boxed some good heavyweights. Pozza has scored innumerable easy victories here.

Billy Bradley has foregone boxing in training to permit his wounded right eye to heal. He is to fight Johnny Izzo, the hairy chap from the Seventh ward. They're middleweights. Izzo kayoed Russ Baxter.

Russ Baxter will attempt a come-back against Duke Peaks of Youngstown at 165 and the show will be opened by Kenny Rose of Beaver Falls and Ray Miller of Meadville.

Ecclesiastics Trim Darlington 56-45

The league-leading city-county Ecclesiastic club quintet journeyed to Darlington last night and won, 56 to 45, with "Harp" Janacone and Red Ross in starring roles. The locals led the entire time. At the half it was 30 to 15. Coach Sammy Bullano will rest his team until Saturday, when they meet the Elks in a city-county league feature game at Washington floor.

Ellwood Juniors Take Mahoning

Ellwood Junior High defeated Mahoning Juniors Thursday afternoon at Ellwood, 36 to 24.

The "little Wolverines" jumped into a 16-to-7 first period lead and were never in trouble after that. Tammara was the scoring leader on seven field goals and two fouls for Ellwood. Runyan, Cangey and Weiskner each got five for the losers. Farrell Juniors invade Mahoning Monday afternoon.

Score by periods:
Mahoning..... 7 5 6 6—24
Ellwood..... 16 8 5 7—36

Athletics Sign Young Brucker

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—(Earle Brucker, Jr., son of the Philadelphia Athletics' coach, will be taking baseball orders from his father next season.

Young Brucker, a catcher, sent in his signed contract to assistant manager Earle Mack yesterday. He spent last season with Savannah batting .232.

Mack also announced the signing of Zeb Eaton, an outfielder—which brought the signed-contract list to 13.

Lions Shoving Sale Of Tickets

Donkey Olympics At Arena Next Wednesday Will Be Most Talked About Event Of Year

Members of the New Castle Lions club are shoving the sale of Donkey Olympics tickets today.

The side-splitting event at the Arena on Grove street next Wednesday evening has the town agog. The show is scheduled to start at 7:57 o'clock. The proceeds go to the Lions club blind fund activity work.

Advance sale of tickets is under way at the following spots: Lumley's Pharmacy in the Penn theatre building, Sporting Goods store, Mac's Tidel Service Station on East Washington street, Morella's Dairy Bar on East Washington street, Brown's news stand, Leslie hotel building, Hyde's Dry Store in Mahoningtown, Weller's Hardware in Mahoningtown, Hite's Dairy Bar on West Washington street and Fazzone's barber shop on North Mill street.

3,000 Seats Available

Stanley Shaw, owner of the spacious Arena, has promised that there will be around 3,000 seats available for the show. There are no reserved seats being sold, however if any organization or group want to sit together they can do so on request to General Chairman Dick Davis at city hall. Places will be roped off for groups and organizations.

Judges Are Named

It was announced by Miss Minnie B. Riley of Kansas City, who is here directing the Donkey Olympics show, that the part of "Zobo" the clown will be taken by Tom Fletcher. The parts of Rufus and Rastus, black-faced comedians, will be taken by Homer Shadle and "Dogs" DeGraw of the Little Beaver Lions club.

Miss Riley also announced the following prominent men will act as judges of the various events next Wednesday: Mayor John Haven, Al Bauman, Jr. of Darlington, Henry Broad, president of the Lions club, Joe Lattano of Ellwood City and Reuben Kennedy, exalted ruler of the Elks.

The Donkey Olympics will chase away your blues, you had better plan to be present.

Leonard Becomes Villanova Coach

Former Notre Dame And Pro Star, Returns To Coaching After Season On Farm

VILLANOVA, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—James R. Leonard, New Jersey black and former coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, Wednesday was named head coach of the Villanova college football team.

The 39-year-old Notre Dame graduate, who stayed on the farm last season, formerly was head coach at St. Francis college, Loretta, Pa.

Leonard succeeds Jordan Oliver, who recently resigned to become head coach of Loyola university, Los Angeles, after leading the Wildcats to a brilliant victory over Nevada in the New Years Day Harbor Bowl game.

A product of St. Joseph's high school, Philadelphia, where he won all-star football honors, Leonard performed under Knute Rockne and Hunk Anderson at Notre Dame.

Wide Experience

After graduating in 1934 with letters both as a fullback and line-man he signed with the Philadelphia Eagles, of the National Football League, and played fullback under Coach Bert Bell for four seasons.

Leonard became assistant coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1942 and a year later went to Holy Cross to assist Ank Scoulton.

The following year he returned as head coach of the Steelers and the team finished second in the Eastern Division. He resigned in 1945 in favor of Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland, but remained to assist him.

Leonard is married and the father of two. His farm is located in Mullica Hill, N. J.

Villanova officials announced that John McKenna and Arthur Raimo will be retained as coaching assistants. Leonard will bring in another coach.

Universal Pottery Defeats Shenango

The Universal Pottery AA basketball team trimmed the Shenango Pottery five, 60 to 39, with Tommelleo and Sammy Janacone the scoring stars. "Chuck" Tanner led the Shenango Pottery in scoring. The Universals led all during the game, and at the half 30 to 21.

Score by periods:
Universal..... 14 16 15 15—60
Shenango..... 7 14 8 10—39
Referee: Gennock.

City-County Card For Saturday Will Draw Large Crowd

New Wilmington Will Play Eagles, Ecclesiastics Risk First Place By Meeting Elks

New Castle basketball fans will have two fine city-county games to watch Saturday night at Washington High gym—the Alpha Sigma Phi team of New Wilmington will play the Eagles in the first game at 7:30 o'clock, in the feature game the league leading Ecclesiastic Club will play the New Castle Elks.

There is bound to be some fur flying when Coach George "Chick" Patterson unleashes the Elks on the league toppers. Considerable interest is being shown in this big contest tomorrow, and no doubt a packed gym will greet the players.

Following is the standing of the city-county league to date:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Ecclesiastic Club	4	1	.800
Elks	5	2	.710
Ellwood City VFW	5	2	.710
East Brook	4	2	.650
Wampum	3	3	.333
Alpha Sigs	0	0	.000
Eagles	0	5	.000

Legion, United Tied For First

American Legion tied up the C-I league race at the "Y" last night by taking the measure of United A. A. 46 to 35. Both teams now have records of six wins and two losses.

Mike Covelli and Telez scored 27 points between them for the winners, and Janacone pumped in 12 markers for United.

Pottery local 3125 laced El Fityet, 49 to 40. Pitzer collected 18 points for the Pottery, while Dick Janacone and Hassen split even on 20 for the losers.

More Games Tonight

B. and O. Railroad tied up their game with local 69 at the end of the third period and went on to squeeze out a 28-to-26 win. Murphy had points for the winners and Teplica garnered 10 for local 69.

Teams in the C-I league go at it again tonight because of a previous schedule difficulty. El Fityet takes on Calabria club at seven. American Legion tussles with local 69 at eight, and local 3125 meets United A. A. at nine o'clock.

Roller-Hockey Game Sunday

The New Castle Yellow Jackets roller hockey team will play the strong Glassport team in a league game Sunday at the Arena floor at four o'clock. It was announced today. The Yellow Jackets opened the league last week by defeating the Flaming Stars at Pittsburgh, 2 to 1, when Lee Stoops caged the winning goal.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

IT'S TOUGH to catch a prize fish then lose it, as Bill Watkins, local realtor can attest. He caught a beautiful pickerel in Spider Lake, the Pennsylvania camp, Georgian Bay last summer, but alas, after landing the fish, he lost it. With Quincy McBride of this city and Fred Reyer of Sharon, Watkins heard there were some nice bass and extra-large pickerel in Spider Lake, so the trio portaged there. They got into a boat and "worked" their way to a spot where they believed there would be a good catch. The first to hook a fish was McBride. He reeled in a nice pickerel. While Watkins and Reyer were admiring the finny member of the piscatorial family, Watkins' reel began to sing, and his line went out. He hooked the fish and when he reeled it in, the trio discovered he had caught a large, beautiful pickerel. It was netted and lifted into the boat. However, mishaps will happen, and one happened to Watkins when he went to remove the hook from the pickerel's mouth. He lifted it up by the tail, and fish-like, it started to flop, and did so, vigorously, it flopped over the side of the boat into the water, hence Bill was out a beautiful pickerel. . . . Referring to the eel story of W. C. Kennedy, Neshannock avenue, who years ago resided at Kennedy's Mills, where his father, the late Hosey Kennedy, ran a mill, an informant tells Here & There that the name of the geologist who stayed with the Kennedys was Isarel C. White, geologist, of West Virginia. He knew almost every foot of ground in Lawrence County and while here said it was his belief that, once upon a time, the Ohio river flowed into Lake Erie. The U. S. government thought so much of White's geological advice that it sent him on a mission to Russia.

Lawrence County Council of Sportsmen will elect officers tonight at the Ellwood City and Wampum Rod and Gun club. . . . According to persons close to Jack Biddle, he will wage an aggressive fight, and attempt to polish off Chuck Higgins, if such is possible. Monday night before the muscles in his legs have a chance to cramp. Higgins is likely to meet Jack at his own game, and if this should happen, it may turn out to be a knockdown, drag 'em out joust. At least, fandom hopes so. . . . Instructors of the youth program, LCSA, are expected to report to Chairman Eddie Fritz, Jr., at 2:30 p. m., Sunday, at the Harbor farm. According to present plans boys who will be taught outdoors life will range from 12 to 18 years of age. There is also some talk of a ladies auxiliary of the LCSA being organized because there are many females who like to fish and hunt. For instance, there is Mrs. Howard Price. She accompanied her husband deer hunting last fall. Said husband came home without a buck but Mrs. Price bagged a deer. Another who likes to fish is Mrs. Thomas Boyle, wife of the city detective. She already has her 1949 license. . . . Sunday, at 8:30 a. m. sharp, Shenango Valley Beaglers will stage a second fun trial. Members are requested to turn out with their hounds, some of which may win ribbons, according to John Greer. . . . Herman Steinbrink, president LCSA, reports receipt of 200 replies to the letter of Paul W. Fombell, R. D. 9, in which he opposed an open doe season. Only three favored such a season, according to President Steinbrink. (Incidentally the replies show this column is being read avidly read by sportsmen.) . . . Members of the Tail Twisters of the Lions club are preparing to "lay in" an extra supply of amica and other bruise alleviators in view of the coming donkey basketball and polo games, in The Arena, January 26. And by the way, it is suggested that Safety Director R. L. Davis, chief Tail Twister, wear his red hat that night.
